CUMMINS ELECTED TO THE SENATE IN JOINT SESSION OF IOWA LEGISLATURE AT NOON TODAY

Cummins Regarded as Strong Recruit for Insurrectionists in U. S. Congress

DES MOINES, Iowa, Nov. 24.—Governor Cummins was elected United States senator on joint ballot of the Iowa legislature at noon today. There was no effort to evade the result of the primary, at which Cummins defeated Major Lacey, the candidate of the anti-Cummins men, or of Allison reactionaries.

The vote of the joint session on the senatorship was 106 for Cummins, 35 for Porter. It also adopted a program for the inauguration of Garst, which took place this afternoon.

Lieut. Gov. Garst thus becomes governor, succeeding Cummins, until March next when the governor-elect will take his seat. He made an earnest speech in favor of an honest revision of the tariff along lines that would give the consumer relief without endangering any industry which is actually in need of protection.

Long Fight Ends

The election of Cummins is the culmination of a long intra-state battle in which, following liberal ideas and the general progressive policies urged by La Follette and Roosevelt, he won his greatest ambition. Cummins has repeatedly defeated the reactionaries of his state, his only setback having been in the senatorial primary in which he was defeated in a contest with the late Senator Allison for the senate, the age of Allison having worked the defeat of the governor.

Fuss in G. O. P. Convention.

During the late republican convention both Cummins and Dolliver were mentioned for vice president. Dolliver was prevented from accepting by the Iowa standpatters, who did not want their recent election of Allison over Cummins to nullify their victory by opening a new vacancy in the senate to which they knew Cummins would successfully aspire. Neither would they let Cummins have the honor, defeating that plan by dividing the Iowa delegation and thus making Cummins an impossible candidate.

Fortune Turns Trick.

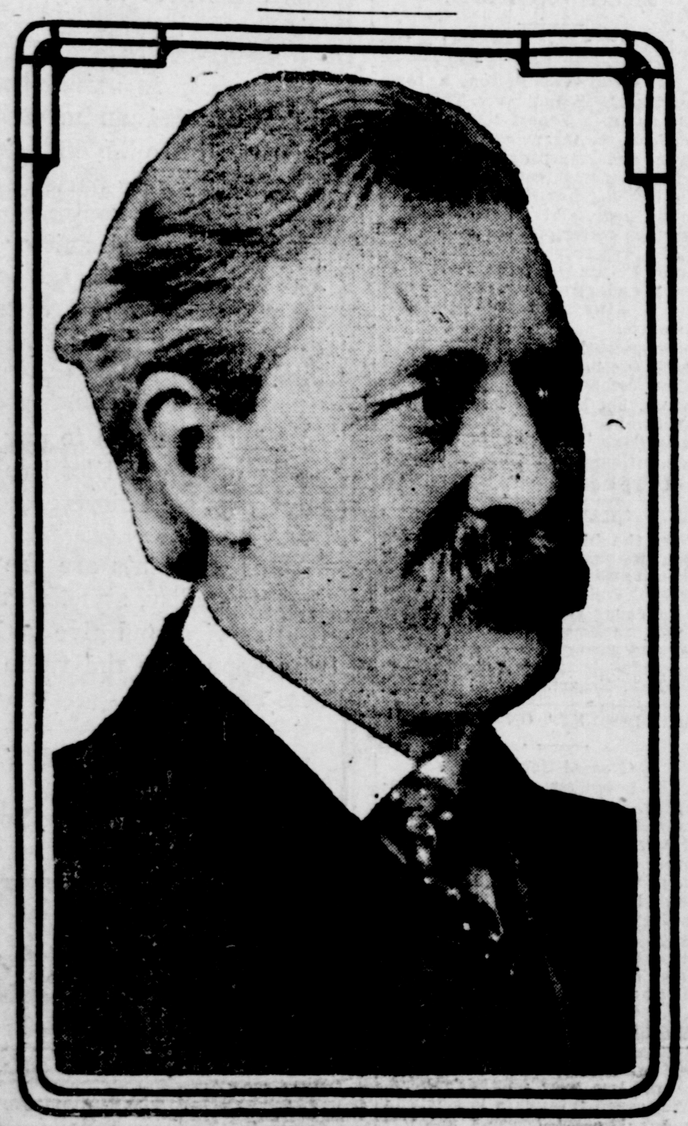

After Allison's death had conspired to give Cummins the chance for the senate he wanted, realizing the hopelessness of opposing him as the

THIS CROOK MAKES CASSIE CHADWICK LOOK QUITE CHEAP

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—A swindle promising to make Cassie Chadwick look like a county fair fakir in comparison, has according to police opinion been unearthed in the exposure of J. M. Meyers, alias, a rich Austrian Jew who claims to be backed by $200,000 of Rothschilds' money.

The scheme was to make flattering offers to holders of great mining and land properties throughout the west, making a proviso that the owner pay for expert examination of the holdings. These bills ranged from $15,000 to $50,000, and after the expert, an accomplice, had been paid, Meyers would decide not to take the property. He is in jail in this city on a charge of defrauding bond owners, but this specific charge but covers the real crimes for which he is wanted in at least five leading cities.

ADMIRALS SCORE CRITICS OF NAVY

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—George Dewey, Winfield Scott Schley, Robley Evans—the hero of Manila, the victor of Santiago, and "Fighting Bob"—in letters ringing clear with sincerity and carrying the prestige that comes from a lifetime of experience and absolute knowledge, denounced and probably sea at rest forever the slurs that critics have thrown on American battleships.

The letters were read last night at the annual banquet of the United States Naval academy alumni of the middle west at the Auditorius Annex by Rear Admiral Washington Lee Capps, chief of the bureau of construction of the navy depratment. The letters were written at the request of Admiral Capps for the express purpose of being read at this time in an effort to authoritatively contradict the allegations of the magazine writers. They came as a climax to a long address by the admiral defending the methods used by the board of construction of the navy.

Show Joy by Singing.

The letters from the three great admirals were listened to with the most intense interest by the men of the navy, who at their conclusion gave voice to their great joy, enthusiasm and relief in singing "The Star Spangled Banner," while the lights were put out and a glowing vivid flag of red, white and blue electric lights stood revealed at the end of the banquet hall.

The letter of Admiral Dewey, closing with the assertion that nowhere on earth is a fleet of sixteen battleships the equal in fighting strength of the American fleet now on its trip around the world, was received with long continued applause.

HEADS INAUGURAL.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Edward J. Stollwagen, a banker, was today appointed chairman of the inaugural committee by Chairman Hitchcock.

SEEK THE SERVICES OF ANDY CARNEGIE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—As a result of the declaration of Andrew Carnegie in an article in the forthcoming number of the Century Magazine that the tariff schedules on iron and steel should be reduced, the ways and means committee of the house has formally invited Mr. Carnegie to appear before it this week to tell what he knows about the steel industry and the possibility of the reduction of the tariff on iron and steel products.

FOUR BURN TO DEATH.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Four men lost their lives in a fire which partially destroyed a seven-story business building on Canal street last night and which incidentally afforded an opportunity for a display of heroism on the part of two firemen who saved several men trapped on the top floor of the building. The heart of the structure was a seething mass of flames when Firemen Rose and Wintrich scaled the ladder to the fire escape on the third floor, climbed through fire and smoke to the roof, and there, with the flames bursting out all around them, succeeded in rescuing four unconscious men, carrying them down one by one along the perilous route.

MOCK DUEL ENDS FATALY

MARQUETTE, Mich., Nov. 24.—While playing duel yesterday, Robet Warren, thirteen years of age, of Marquette, was shot and killed by Robert Miller, fifteen years old.

At the coroner's inquest today it developed that the boys played at duelling, pretending to shoot each other.

They pulled the triggers of their guns, supposing them to be empty.

Miller's contained a shell, and Warren fell dead, shot through the head.

WARCLOUDS SEEM TO DIM HORIZON OF THE OLD WORLD

AUSTRIAN CABINET IN EXTRAORDINAY SESSION TODAY

TURKISH SITUATION CRITICAL

OUTLOOK FOR A CLASH IS QUITE STARTLING

ARABS ATTACKING TURK CITY

Turks Have Internal Trouble—Hayti Trouble May Call Warships —Clouds Everywhere

The Balkan troubles refuse to down, with the Austro-Turkish troubles at this moment most critical. Internal strife in Hayti which seems to invite outside demonstrations to secure protection of foreign residents, the Dutch-Venezuelan pot of bother boiling, enmities engendered by the kaiser's garrulous ways hardly smothered, racial insurrection actually begun in South Africa, the eyes of all nations on China, and Japan barely concealing its territorial carving knife—these are conditions which today accentuate a period of dissastisfaction and warlike animosity which reigns throughout the old world and infects the new. The spirit of The Hague seems impotent, but the hope is entertained in all government circles that this is but an epidemic of irritability and suspicion that will pass away without grave consequences. However, it is apparent that things were never riper for a serious outbreak the foundation of which is vexation over present petty controversies underlying which is a deep international distrust.

VIENNA, Nov. 24.—The Austro-Turkish situation is most serious today, and a special session of the Austria cabinet is now in session.

Insurgents Aggressive.

CONSTANTINOPLES, Nov. 24.—The Arab insurgents have renewed their attacks upon Medina, and seem determined to carry it by assault and loot the town. The urgent appeal for reinforcements has been received from the Turkish commander, who declares that if they are not sent he will not be responsible for the consequences.

Hayti Invites Warships.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—It is stated in naval circles that the commander-in-chief of the British West India squadron has been ordered to hold sufficient force in readiness to proceed at a moment's notice to Hayti to protect British interests there, should it become necessary. At the admiralty it is stated that no official advices as to conditions in Hayti have been received.

Natives Riddle Train.

CAPETOWN, South Africa, Nov. 24.—Armed natives attacked a passenger train near Johannesburg today, riddling the windows in every coach with stones and rifle bullets. Several passengers were wounded. The outbreak is believed to be the culmination of racial friction that has been growing at an alarming rate, and further trouble is feared.

SHOT HIS ANSWER TO FAMILY REUNION

NEW YORK, Nov. 24. — Answering the pleadings of his son for a family reunion, Carl Loos, a baker, drew a revolver and began sohoting his family today. The first shot killed his daughter, aged 16. Before he could fire again, Loos was disarmed and taken to jail. The son is in a serious condition. The son was recently married to an Illinois girl and accepted the pastorate of the Lutheran church of Yale, S. D.

FROM HOSPITAL TO JAIL GOES COOPER

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 24.—Robin Cooper, the slayer of Senator Carmack today occupies a cell in the county jail with his father, who is also charged with murder. The transfer from the hospital, where he has been since the shooting, was accomplished yesterday afternoon with the utmost secrecy.

BILLIK HANGS DEC. 11

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Herman Billik has given up all hope of escaping the gallows. December 11 is the date set by Judge Barnes, who sentenced him. Billik was convicted of murdering the Vrzal family. Billik is spending the last few days in writing a last farewell to his mother and friends in the old country. Today Billik's wife, son and daughter visited his in his cell.

FIFTY DEAD, AND A HUNDRED HURT IN ARKANSAS STORM

INDICATIONS POINT TO HEAVY TORNADO LOSS

TWO FIERCE STORMS MEET

CRASH TOGETHER NEAR OZARK AND HAVOC REIGNS

WIDE AREA IS DEVASTATED

Strip Eighty Miles Long and Four Miles Wide Left a Death Strewn Desert

LITTLE ROCK, Nov. 24.—Additional reports today from the tornado swept section of Arkansas indicate greater damage than was first stated. The death list will probably amount to 50, the injured to 100. The tornadoes apparently wrought the devastation, coming from opposite ends of the state, and meeting near Ozark. The worst damage was in that vicinity where a strip eighty miles in length and two to four miles in width is completely wrecked.

Stores in which several people had taken refuge were blown to pieces and all of the occupants were more or less injured.

Many People Missing.

At Knoxville, Ark., the storm crossed over at the mouth of Piney Creek, demolishing everything in its path. Twenty people were injured and several reported killed. Scores are reported missing along the path of the storm.

Calls for doctors have been sent from Barr, a small town four miles northeast of Knoxville. Physicians went to the stricken town on a handcar and have not returned. Barr was swept nearly off the map.

Wide Area Laid Waste.

The country between Knoxville and Barr is a waste, farm houses shattered and occupants killed. The path of destruction in some places was four miles wide.

The damage at Berryville was confined mostly to stores and churches. The Methodist church was wrecked, the parsonage badly damaged.

The homes of four doctors, frame structure, were demolished. Eleven other dwellings were blown from foundations and barns were unroofed.

Telegrams from Knoxville state that the storm passed near Russellville and killed fifteen people and injured a score.

Property Loss Million.

The property loss is expected to reach $1,000,000, but it is impossible to estimate exactly. The western part of the state suffered most.

THIRD OPERATION FOR HENEY TODAY

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24. —In order to aid his system in throwing off the effect of the powerful anaesthetics used upon him, Francis J. Heney will be operated on today, for the third time since he was shot.

COURT WILL DECIDE OIL APPEAL JAN. 7

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 24.—The supreme court will probably announce Dec. 7 whether it will review the Standard $29,000,000 fine case. The court is now in recess for Thanksgiving. The application for a writ of certiorari will be formally presented to the justices Monday by the clerk with whom it was filed yesterday. The ruling will probably be made the following Monday.

PROF. BENEZET TALKS ON THE CIGARETTE

Professor Benezet gave an interesting lecture at the high school this morning on the evils of cigarette smoking. He read from a paper prepared by the Professor of Philosophy of Kansas university explaining the bad effects on the smoker. He also illustrated the talk with a chart showing the pulsations of the heart before and after the patient had smoked.

HUNDT AND ABBOTT BAG TWO DEER

LACROSSE FLORISTS ORGANIZE TONIGHT

WILL MEET AT STODDARD TO PERFECT PLANS

PLAN 1909 FLOWER SHOW

Will Hold Largest Ever Held Here and are to Have Many Outside Exhibitors—Elect Officers

Tonight at 8 o'clock all of the florists in La Crosse will meet at the Hotel Stoddard to perfect plans for an organization, the purpose of which will to bring horticulture in La Crosse to a high stage of perfection.

At the meeting tonight, which all the leading florists will attend, officers of the organization will be elected and the meeting will also choose a name for the association.

"The meeting tonight," said a leading florist today, "is to perfect an organization among La Crosse florists that will bring horticulture in La Crosse to the highest stage of perfection. We will organize and will also elect officers.

"We will, at the meeting tonight, make definite plans for a 1909 flower show and exhibit. This show, if our present plans mature, will be the largest of its kind ever held in La Crosse, Florists from all over the state and from places as far as Milwaukee will be induced to send exhibits and it will be a big affair. We already have $100 for the next year show and have pledges for much more."

NEW JUDICIAL CIRCUIT PLANNED

A movement is on foot to form a new judicial circuit to consist of Chippewa, Eau Claire, Rusk and Sawyer counties, to be called the Eighteenth circuit, and to reconstitute Judge O'Neill's Seventeenth circuit so that it would consist of Clark, Jackson, Juneau and Vernon counties.

The plan would take two counties from Judge Parish, one from Judge Vinje, and two from Judge Fruit.

A judge for the new circuit (eighteenth) would be elected in April.

The subject has been discussed to a considerable extent, and something definite may develop soon.

LYNCH SOUTH CAROLINA NEGRO

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 24. — Jim Gilmore, a negro, was taken from the guardhouse in Luray, and lynched for an alleged attempt to assault a daughter of his employer. The girl's screams aroused the family. Gilmore is said to have confessed, implicating another negro.

Sheriff's Posse Kills a Negro.

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 24.—Will Anderson, colored, suspected of being Wild Mack, the negro who crimnally assaulted a 16 year old white girl, was shot to death by a sheriff's posse near Brandon. Kellogg Makes Oil King Flee Behind Failing Memory in Vital Examination

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Late this afternoon John D. Archbold took the stand in the Standard Oil hearing.

Rockefeller Recalled

Rockefeller was called to the stand this morning in the resumption of the hearing. Kellogg questioned the witness concerning the methods of stock distribution. It is expected Rockefeller's testimony will be completed today. Archbold will be the next called, when Rockefeller's statement and the previous statements of Archbold will be used as a base by Kellogg for confusing the witness.

Rockefeller admitted that he did not own all of the 442,797 shares of Standard credited to him on the records of the corporation in 1899. He could not remember how much he did own, he said.

Kellogg shifted suddenly to the policy of Standard in regulating its competitor's production. He said he knew Schofield, Schurmer and Teagle, operators of the refinery at Cleveland. Replying to a question, he said he could remember no contract with them made in 1876 in which they agreed not to handle more than 85,000 barrels of crude oil yearly, 42,000 each six months, and that in return, they guaranteed an increase of $75,000 yearly, and the Standard in Ohio was to receive the excess profits of the Cleveland plant up to $60,000 and the additional profits would be divided between Schofield, Schurmer and Teagle and Standard Oil. He said such a contract may have been made, but he could not recall it. Kellogg called the attention of the witness to the injunction suit asking Schofield to comply with the conditions of the contract. "I think we had litigation," said the witness, "but I can not recall the conditions." When asked if he signed an affidavit setting forth the conditions of the contract, he said, "If such an affidavit was made, I, as president of Standard, would have been the person to sign it." Then the witness took refuge behind his failing memory and said he did not recall similar restrictive contracts with the Pioneer Oil company, operating in the Cleveland refinery. He did not recall other affidavits regarding the Schofield contract.

Kellogg questioned Rockefeller about the connection of the Standard officials with the railroads carrying Standard products. The wit-

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

AN OPEN DOOR POLICY

Upwards of thirty thousand stations owned by various other companies operating in this State are now connected with the system of the Wisconsin Telephone Company. This seems to be a case not of hanging out the latch string but of keeping the door wide open.

The arrangement by which many of the smaller telephone companies are thus given access to the system covering the State is one which works to advantage at both ends. The small company gets the benefit of the Wisconsin's toll lines and the Wisconsin Company has the benefit of local service in towns where it does not maintain exchanges.

To the people of the State, this policy of building up a unified system of communication means a great deal. These 30,000 telephones on the lines of connecting companies add to the value of the telephone service given to every subscriber of the Wisconsin Company. The patrons of the connecting companies get long distance facilities. The plan is a good one for companies and patrons alike.

Of course your neighbor has his faults, but you should have sufficient self control not to mention them.

LA CROSSE PREPARES FOR SPARTA GAME

JUNGBLUTH AND TIEDEMAN BACK IN LINE

TEAM HAS NEW PLAYS READY

Coach Cooper Has a Complete New Set of Plays With Which La Crosse Expects to Win

The La Crosse high school football team started practice last evening for the most important game of the season, the game against Sparta. Every man has raised his standings to the required point and Coach Cooper will be able to muster the strongest lineup of the year. Scrimmage will be the order every evening after school and after supper secret signal practice will be held. The chances of a La Crosse victory are the best in years, and if no misfortune befalls the team before Thursday, La Crosse hopes to defeat Sparta and return home champions. The work of the team has improved considerably since the last game against Sparta and with the new trick plays the hopes of the La Crosse enthusiasts are running high. Jungbluth has fully recovered from his injury and will be back at his old position. No man in this part of the state can excel him in the line and as this was the only disappointment in the Sparta game of Oct. 23, the rooters are much elated. Tiedeman will be able to get into the game and will strengthen the other side of the line. Novak, substitute right halfback, has recovered from his injury, and will most likely enter the game at this position. Novak is the fleetest runner on the team and if he is able to clear Sparta's ends no one will be able to overtake him.

Coach Cooper regarding the outcome of the game, said:

"I think La Crosse will stand an equal chance of winning unless some fluke play or something out of the ordinary happens. A large crowd will accompany the team and the best of train accommodations will be secured. Last Thanksgiving when Sparta played here eight hundred citizens from Sparta attended the game and if La Crosse responds in proportion to its population three thousand people will go with the team."

A special train will leave here on the Northwestern at 1:30 and return at 6, leaving Sparta at 5:20, thereby giving the rooters plenty of time to see the game and at the same time to do justice to a turkey dinner.

BADGER ATHLETICS ON A SOUND BASIS

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 24.—Football Manager Jelinek announced that Saturday's game would net about $12,000, which is to be equally divided between Chicago and Wisconsin. This will overcome the difficulties experienced because of lack of funds this season and will put Wisconsin athletics on a sound financial basis.

There is a marked contrast between the financial report of this season's football and that of last year, which showed net earnings of only $18. The total receipts from the Chicago game were about $13,000 and the manager estimates the attendance at 11,000.

M'CARTHY SELECTS ALL-WESTERN TEAM

WISCONSIN HAS SIX MEN ON AGGREGATION

CHICAGO HAS THREE ON TEAM

Besides Steffen, Schommers and Page are Only Midway Players on All-Star Team

Center—Steihm, Wisconsin.
Guards—Van Nook, Illinois; Messmer, Wisconsin.
Tackles — Osthoff, Wisconsin; Wham, Illinois.
Ends—Page, Chicago; Rogers, Wisconsin, or Schomer, Chicago.
Quarterback—Steffen, Chicago.
Halfbacks—Johnson, Minnesota; Allerdice, Michigan.
Fullback—Wilce, Wisconsin.

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—Dr. Charles McCarthy, one of the most noted exponents of new football, selected the foregoing as his all-western team. Recognizing the open style as the kind of attack that wins, Dr. McCarthy has confined his selection largely to members of the three best new football teams in this section of the country—Chicago, Wisconsin and Illinois. Like most coaches and close students of the great colloge game he believes that the custom of selecting an all-western team is most unsatisfactory, but in order to satisfy public interest and curiosity in what he thinks about such an aggregation, Dr. McCarthy consented to pick a team.

In selecting men for the various positions, he laid special stress on the fact that players adapted to the new game, the kickers, the open field runners, the flying tacklers, and the men who can execute the forward pass quickly and accurately naturally have the call.

"In the west Chicago, Wisconsin and Illinois have presented more new football than any of the other teams," said Dr. McCarthy, and for this reason I feel forced to confine my selections for an all-western team very largely to these elevens. I desire to bring together, kickers, farward passers, fast backs and men who will make a well balanced team and not merely one of individuls.

SPORTING BRIEFS

CHICAGO—Packie McFarland is back from the east where he recently defeated Tommy Murphy. Packie will stay in Chicago a few days before leaving for New York again. He expects to meet Murphy again soon.

URBANA—The Illinois students are not yet over the joy of their big victory over Northwestern. Railsback's ankle is not serious and he will be able to get around soon.

COFFEYVILLE—Miss Margery Perkins and William Alexander Stuart were wedded at this city. Stuart was a former Pirate player, and Harry Pulliam, president of the National league, was one of the ushers.

NEW HAVEN—Yale may change its coaching system owing to the defeat by Harvard Saturday. Howard Jones is talked of as coach next year. The captaincy will rest between Coy and Philbin with the chances in favor of Coy.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Herbert Nodler, assistant instructor of manual training at the high school, cut off his mustache that he might play in a game of football between the second team of the local high school and the State School for the Deaf and Dumb at Jacksonville. There was a shortage of material and Nodler offered to play, the players demanding that he shave before accompanying the squad.

CINCINNATI—Tommy McGee marked his retirement from the turf by disposing of the 2 year old filly, Anne McGee, to W. H. Fizer, and the colt Marine to Rome Respess. After the sale of the Corrigan stud today and Wednesday McGee will enter new business fields.

YALE-HARVARD GAME RECEIPTS $63,000

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov., 24.—From Saturday's game with Harvard, Yale and Harvard will divide more than $65,000 (estimated), less the expenses of the game, which will amount to several thousands. From the game with Princeton a week ago it is estimated that Yale and Princeton will divide about $55,000, less expenses. Yale thus stands to have fully $45,000 as her share after expenses are deducted. The less important games of the season will bring the football surplus to more than $50,000.

Training expenses and renewals of the stands will eat into the tidy sum considerably, but those best informed estimated that the financial surplus which can be used for a stadium fund will be swelled by at least $25,000 and possibly $35,000 for the season.

Barnes Tormer—In the piece we play tonight the scene is laid about the time of the Spanish war.

Hiram Subbubbs—Yep, and the eggs the boys have been buyin' up was laid about the same time.

MARRIES GIRL HE MET IN JAIL

MARSHALLTOWN, Iowa, Nov. 24. Arrested for grand larceny, indicted by the grand jury, the foreman of which was her husband-to-be, sentenced to a term in the penitentiary, paroled, and pardoned by Gov. Cummins are the facts in the peculiar experience of Mrs. R. W. Hughes of this county, who formerly was Rose Dawson. News of the marriage, which had been kept secret for several years, was made public when the pardon was received here.

In 1903 Rose Dawson, who was then a domestic in the employ of Mrs. Hopkins, stole rings and jewels from the Hopkins home worth $400. She was arrested in Peoria and returned to this city. R. W. Hughes of near Luray was the foreman of the grand jury that indicted her. After her indictment, when the grand jury was making its annual inspection of the jail Hughes met and was impressed by the Dawson girl, who was but nineteen, while he was past forty. The girl was tried and convicted and sentenced to three years in the Anamosa penitentiary. Later she was paroled by Gov. Cummins.

The acquaintance under the peculiar circumstances developed into an intimacy. Then Hughes sold his farm and left the state. Less than three months after the girl was paroled, it developed yesterday she and Hughes were married. They kept their marriage a secret until then, when they were happy to announce it now that the girl has been pardoned. The couple is now living near Luray.

SERVIAN FUED ENDS IN DULUTH

DULUTH, Minn., Nov. 24.—A vendetta which had its start in Servia ten years ago had a bloody climax at Alborn, near here, when Lazzo Evanich's head was split open with a lumberman's ax. Two blows were delivered and each penetrated the brain.

Four men are suspected of being implicated but they maintain absolute silence. Other Servians told the police that the crime grew out of an old family feud.

Evanich was struck while he was stooping to drink from a pail of water. He is still alive, but his case is hopeless.

LUNATIC AT LARGE

CLINTON, Iowa, Nov. 24.—For weeks an escaped lunatic has terrorized the people of Fulton, a town across the Mississippi river. The man, whose name is Ernest Kennedy, escaped from the insane asylum at Watertown, and returning to the vicinity of his home, lingers about.

His clothing has been nearly torn from his body, and his friends fear he will be frozen to death. Several times he was seen and pursued, but north of Fulton is a thick wood with a heavy undergrowth of briars, and in this he always succeeds in secreting himself.

An organized effort will be made to catch the man before severe cold weather comes. He is said to be harmless, but his wild and dishevelled appearance by the roadside occasionally frightens people of the Hollander setlement outside of Fulton into spasms.

RAW LUNGS

"MR. DOOLEY" ON JOHN D.

(Record-Herald.)

In the December American Magazine "Mr. Dooley" writes of "A new literary light." Following is a brief extract:

"Well, Hinnissy, th' imprission I got fr'm the little heart-to-heart talk by the iditor was that me friend Jawn D. was quite a jolly, rollickin' old soul. I plunged fr'm thence into his autybiography an' immeejedly plunged out again. I cannot tell ye all iv this dashin' story iv adventure. I class it among th' gr-reat fightin' romances in lithrachoor. How he was beset by rivals—how he pierced wan with a rebate, how he broke th' law over another's head, how he leaped through a loophole in a supreme coort decision an' was safe f'r a time; th' great peril he was in fr'm f'rgettin' th' combination to his safe; how he was threecherously sthruck down by Kenesaw M. Landis; how honest Peter Grosscup come along an' lifted th' fine an' carried him home an' nursed him back to life. I'll not tell ye about it. Ye must read it f'r ye'er silf. An' if it's not too much to ask, read it f'r me, too.

"There's wan thing sure fr'm what I see an' that is that Jawn D hasn't anny idee that he iver done wrong to annywan. I like that about him. It shows he's a human being."

Supporting the Horse

The busy man stopped before an office building and leaped from his carriage. At the same moment an ambitious urchin ran forward and piped:

"Hey, mister, can I hold your horse?"

"No, you can't!" snapped the busy man.

"Won't charge y' much," insisted the urchin.

"I don't care about the charge," impatiently responded the man, throwing a blanket over his bony steed. "My horse will not run away."

"Gee, mister, I didn't think he's run away."

"No?"

"No. I thought he might fall down."—Democratic Telegram.

A Little Previous

A gypsy, upon release from jail, met a friend.

"What were you in for?" asked the friend.

"I found a horse."

"Found a horse? Nonsense! They wouldn't jug you for finding a horse."

"Well, but you see I found him before the owner lost him."—Everybody's Magazine.

SCOTCH WOOLEN MILLS CO'S EDITORIAL

If you could buy a genuine diamond for about the same price you could get an imitation for, you'd get the real thing, wouldn't you?

Yet you'll go along year in and year out and buy imitation clothes when for no more money you can come here and get the real thing.

Ready-mades are all made on a mechanical basis—usually in sweat-shops by the cheapest kind of labor—and it is an impossibility to produce sizes so as to eliminate the differences which all men possess in the other parts of their figures.

We make each suit or overcoat individually. The workmanship is the best that skilled Union tailors can produce and we stand back of every garment with our guarantee of "Satisfaction or No Pay."

All can afford to pay our prices, and it is this policy of live and let live that has made this the most popular tailoring establishment in town.

Our garments are the acme of tailoring perfection in quality, style, permanence of shape and long service, and give lasting satisfaction to men who appreciate the value of appearance as a business asset.

Don't you think you'd better get the genuine?

Yours truly,

A GREAT WORK WELL BEGUN

Without a dissenting vote the city council has passed the budget containing the first material provision for park purposes. That it is ample none will claim; that it is a substantial step in the promulgation of a sound municipal activity all will admit.

Mr. Nolen, in his lecture, succeeded in convincing a great mass-meeting of La Crosse citizens of something that the park board and the mayor already understood—that the beautification of a city does not compensate for the necessary expenditure in health, pleasure and education alone, but that it repays in equal measure through the increasing of population and the extension of commercial and industrial activity.

These things being accepted as established fact, and the people of La Crosse having emphatically declared themselves in favor of acting upon the theory that we must proceed now to the acquisition and gradual development of a park system, there remains to be solved but one problem. It is as to the method. The public resolved that this should be left to the commission, and the full extent to which the council has accepted their dictum was shown by the unanimous vote for the present appropriation. The further plans of the commission will be presented to them in due time, after earnest study and preparation, and The Tribune but voices the expressed wish of the people of La Crosse when it says that nothing should be permitted to occur to prevent the seizure now of the ripe opportunity to secure desirable property while it is reasonably attainable, and to provide for its improvement along such lines as shall commend themselves to the commissioners.

THE "NIGGER IN THE WOODPILE."

Yesterday, discussing the attack in Mr. Gelatt's Chronicle upon Mr. Sam LaChappelle and his billiard hall, The Tribune ventured the opinion that there was "a nigger in the woodpile," that the screed was inspired by some act of Mr. LaChappelle offensive to the publisher in question, rather than by a desire to reform the community. We may have been right. In the assault upon the billiard hall proprietor—the only one in the city, we believe, who tolerates no cards, dice or slot machines—Mr. Gelatt said:

"I don't know but I'll print some day, right in this column, a list of the students who have matriculated at Sam's flourishing school."

Now let's see how this might be revised to make the apparently inexplicable plain. Suppose we try it this way:

"I don't know but I'll print some day, right in this column, a list of the students who have matriculated at Sam's flourishing school, UNLESS HE DISCARDS THE GASOLINE LIGHTING PLANT HE HAS JUST INSTALLED AND RESUMES HIS USE OF THE CURRENT OF THE LA CROSSE GAS & ELECTRIC COMPANY, OF WHICH MY BROTHER IS MANAGER."

Puzzle picture: Find the "nigger in the woodpile."

LABOR "SEEKING FAVORS"

Commenting disappointedly upon the re-election of President Gompers by the National Federation of Labor, a local evening newspaper says, "The federation is asking much legislation from the president and congress, a large part of which in the opinion of the best authorities in the country is proper and desirable." It adds:

"The federation preliminary to ASKING FAVORS of the republican administration has, however, with enthusiasm and virtual unanimity re-elected Mr. Gompers, who exerted himself to the utmost to defeat the republican party, and has forced out Keefe, the only member of the executive board who is a republican. Exaltation of democrats and discrimination against republicans make a poor preliminary to the SEEKING OF FAVORS from republican hands."

And so we learn that asking for legislation which is "proper and desirable," is "seeking favors."

If anybody wants to know why La Crosse county is so inactive in the present Stephenson-La Follette fight, just tell them La Crosse county is fully enlisted. It is sleeping under arms, and it will be in the van of battle, on the right side.

In our effete northern society women emphasize their quarrels by cutting each other. In the virile south they do likewise, using a bowie knife. Materialism, in this case, lends color to the situation.

And now it is said that the kaiser's defense will be "dementia Americana," or "brain storm." An infectious malady contracted from "Teddy" Roosevelt, no doubt.

The casualty list this fall shows conclusively that the new method in football has robbed the game of a large percentage of its danger.

A woman's explanation of why she played a hand of whist the way she did is as convincing as a man's illumination of how he ought to have won a bet, but lost it.

SPOTLIGHTS

Thanksgiving at the La Crosse theater is engaged for the latest Gans-Nelson fight pictures of which there are four thousand feet, requiring an hour and a half to run. Two thousand feet of other pictures will be added to the entertainment.

"The Virginian," an American romance given to the public in book form by Owen Wister, and dramatized by the author and Kirke La Shelle, will be seen at the La Crosse theater Friday, Nov. 27.

Most book plays are disappointing to those who go to the theater expecting a realization of their ideals formed in the course of reading. But when the novelist and dramatist are one and the same person, then there is hope that the stage will not destroy the impression made by the book. "The Virginian" is dramatic and atmospheric, and a deeply interesting play, and as a stage representation of frontier life, is an addition to American dramatic art. The story of the play is a struggle between the Puritan east and the passionate, chivalrous west. Fancy a strictly brought up little Vermonter being forced to question her soul whether she will follow love and marry the magnificent specimen of manhood who appears to her with the charm of a cowboy, the personal fascination of the Virginian, and on his hands the stain of blood. One thing alone will enable her to conquer the jrejudice of education and see western ideas with understanding and that is to come into the atmosphere of fued, to smell gunpowder, to glance through which is but a side glance into the eyes of death. Owen Wister makes you feel the pulsation of the warm western blood, something of the poetry of the treeless plains, the wild out of doors life far away from the cold intellectualism of New England. In a sense "The Virginian" is a plea for lynching; but let the reader not be mistaken, it is not a plea for mob-law. The machinery of the courts seem to cumbersome for the Wyoming of Mr. Wister's play. The logic of right and wrong is argued with revolvers and it seems that poetic justice guides the bullets of honest men. Everyone ought to see "The Virginian." It deals with real questions and arguments between men of flesh and blood. The ranch with its wallpaper of cuttings from illustrated papers, the mixing up of the babies, the education of Emily ,the meeting and talk of the cowboys are all full of interest. He who would understand his country better should not miss "The Virginian."

At the Bijou.

The usual large crowds greeted the new bill of the week at the Bijou last night. There's something new and different, and the interest is not left to lag for want of good things. The Casettas, European whirlwind dancers opened at the matinee, but the act was of such questionable merit that Manager Koppelberger felt, that in justice to his patrons, he could not afford to let the act proceed. Mr. Koppelberger's motto being good acts or no acts at all. The Hannahan Trio who are resting here after their northwest tour prior to playing the Inter-State Circuit, were prevailed upon to fill the vacancy.

Black and Leslie, comedy, novelty singing and talking act opened the proceedings in a medley of good vocal numbers, street patter and a strong novelty finish. They were liked from the first. The finish ranks above the regular order as a gymnastic stunt and puzzled the audience how Mr. Black could do a handstand on a pair of crutches aud kick at such high altitude and still keep his balance. The applause was intermittent through the number but met a solid round at the final. They landed as solid favorites:

Mr. Frank Petrick sank with fine understanding and feeling "What Might Have Been," a melodious ballad, with fine slides.

There has been some pretty good club juggling act at the Bijou but no one touches the Three juggling Bannans. They do what others have done and they do what others have never done—at least in La Crosse. From start to finish it is a series of difficult, accurate lightning speed club manipulation, the feature feats probably being the overhand throwing and showering of eight clubs in combination. There is not a pause or stay in the whole routine. Their finish was a tremendous hit and took the lion's share of applause.

Eva Thatcher, the Irish Lady, was one of the hits on a headline bill. Appearing in the middle of the program, costumed in a shamrock-green dress with head-piece to match she made a striking Colleen. Her rollicking Irish songs and stories left no doubt as to Miss Thatcher having a speaking acqualtance with the blarney stone. She is an adept in the handling of her subject and drew on the audience for unreserved laughter and applause. The Irish Lady is all to the good.

Vaudevillians have another opportunity to enjoy the Hanahan Trio in their refined and high class musical comedy offering, "Gingers from Jamaica." Notwithstanding the fact that they were here so short a time ago the audience received them with the appreciation due to tried friends. There seems to be more polish and finish to the act, if that were possible. The "Dope Fiend's" song went as strong as ever, They got away cvery nicely with their capital dancing and singing finish. They were the recipients of many encores.

Two good films close the show: (1) "Parisians in Miniature," a comic, and (2) "The Soul Kiss," a burlesque that is a perfect scream.

UNITED STATES TO MAKE PRACTICAL EXHIBIT

The United States government will have not only the largest exhibit at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition which opens at Seattle June 1, 1909, but it will be the most unique exhibition ever made by the government. Congress appropriated $600,000 for the purpose. The commissioners appointed are men who have been connected with every government exhibit in recent years. They determined upon one thing right at the start—there should be something new and of practical benefit. Heretofore the government has been largely content with making a display of the various features of the government, showing how Uncle Sam does business. The collections and displays prepared for the Chicago World's fair in 1893, have been the nucleus for ensuing expositions and the commissioners realized that exposition visitors were getting tired of the same old things. Accordingly they have planned to make the display at Seattle next year on different lines.

Because the western country is tremendously interested in forestry, irrigation, dry-land farming and improved agricultural methods, fisheries and everything connected with the deep sea, it is proposed to treat the above named departments from an educational standpoint, to give demonstrations of practical methods, to show pictures of actual conditions, and by means of a bioscope to teach and illustrate. Thus the man who is interested in irrigation and horticulture will find the best practices displayed by models, pictures and charts, and actual workings by the bioscope. He will learn how to prepare the land, how to run his ditches, how to plant and care for his trees, how to spray them, how to pick and pack the fruit.

Every department will carry out this practical work. The exhibits will be even more comprehensive than shown at other expositions. Everything will be of interest. There will be opportunities for the lawyer, the doctor, the missionary, the farmer, the laborer, the seaman, the lumberman, the manufacturer, the economist, the politician, the exporter and importer, the stock man, the artist, the teacher. These and scores of other professions, trades and business lines will find something to interest them and show them improved methods.

The government exhibit will be shown in five great exhibition palaces: The main building, the Alaska building, the Hawaiian and Philippine building, the Fisheries building and the lecture and bioscope hall. The five will be arranged in an attractive connected group at the head of the great central court of honor, forming the crowning feature of the building scheme. Work is about to begin on these buildings and the commissioners, who are now in Seattle, state emphatically that the buildings will be ready for exhibits within five months. That Uncle Sam will be fittingly and extensively represented is assured.

IMPORTANT COURT DECISIONS

VALIDITY OF STATE RAILROAD RATE LAWS.—The Alabama statutes of 1907 regulating freight and passenger rates on intrastate business were declared invalid as denying due process of law by the United States circuit court, in Central of Georgia Ry. Co. vs. Railroad Commission of Alabama, 161 Federal Reporter, 925. The proceedings were to enjoin the state officers from enforcing these statutes. The defense was that this was an action against the state, and beyond the jurisdiction of the federal courts. The court held otherwise.

When the wolf is at the door a man doesn't need a watchdog.

QUIPS AND CRANKS AND WANTON WILES

Anatomy for Beginners.

Proceeding in a southerly direction from the torso, we have the hips, useful for padding, and the legs. The legs hold up the body, and are sometimes used in walking, but when riding in automobiles they take up valuable space which otherwise might be employed to better advantage.

Attached to the legs are the feet. Some varieties of feet are cold. Some people are born with cold feet, others acquire cold feet, and still others have cold feet thrust upon them.

The surface of the body is covered with cuticle, which either hangs in graceful loops or is stretched tightly from bone to bone.

On the face it is known as the complexion, and is used extensively for commercial purposes by dermatologists, painters and decorators.

Between the cuticle and the bones are the muscles, which hold the bones together and prevent them falling out and littering up the sidewalk as we walk along.

Packed neatly and yet compactly inside the body are the heart, the liver, and the lungs; also the gall, which in Americans is abnormally large.

These organs are used occasionally by the people who own them, but their real purpose is to furnish the surgeons a living.—Thomas L. Masson in Lippincott's.

Where Was She?

She was young and beautiful and unused to the ways of the world. She had left Pittsburg on an early morning train to visit a school friend in New York. It had been a tiresome journey, and just before reaching Harrisburg she had fallen asleep.

Waking up, she turned around to an old gentleman in the seat behind her and said, "Will you please tell me if we are on this side of Harrisburg or on the other side "

"We are on this side," he said. She seemed satisfied at this answer, although what she meant by her question and he by his answer is perhaps still a conjecture.—Lippincott's.

A Trial Anyway.

A Scotchman stood beside the bed of his dying wife, and in tearful accents asked was there anything he could do for her.

"Yes, Sandie," she said; "I'm hoping you'll bury me in Craeburn kirkyard."

"But, my lass," he cried, "only think of the awful expense! Would ye no be comfortable here in Aberdeen?"

"No, Sandie; I'd no rest in my grave unless I were buried in Craeburn."

"It's too much you're askin'," said the loving husband, "and I cannot promise ye ony such thing."

"Then, Sandie, I'll no give you ony peace until my bones are at rest in my native parish."

"Ah, weel, Maggie," said he, "I'll just gie ye a three-month trial in Aberdeen an' see how ye get along."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Too Previous

A Richmond woman has in her employ a little darkey, Miff Cole. One day Miff became confidential and told his mistress he was "goin' to the cimitery next Sunday|"

"But, Miff, that's a long walk. You know it is more than five miles."

"Oh, missus, I ain't goin' to walk. I'se goin' to ride."

"How's that, Miff?"

"I'se goin' in a kerriwge t' my uncle's funeral."

All day Saturday Miff could talk of nothing but the approaching affair. Sunday his mistress excused him, and she expected that on Monday she would be regaled with a full account of the funeral. But Miff turned up with a most melancholy face. In answer to her inquiry he said:

"I didn't go, missus. He ain't dead yet."—New York Herald.

NOW ENJOYS BEST OF HEALTH

Cured of Heavy Cold By Father John's Medicine

"I have found that Father John's Medicine is a great cure for coughs, bronchitis and throat and lung ailments. I had a very bad cough and was sure it would have led to bronchitis if I hadn't taken Father John's Medicine, and within one night my cough was relieved. But I still kept on using it until my cold was cured. I am now in the best of health. I have advised many of my friends who have suffered with coughs and colds to take Father John's Medicine, which they did, and with the same result. I am very thankful for what that wonderful remedy has done for me." (Signed) Frederick T. Mudrak, 14 Barnaby St., Geneva, Providence, R. I.

THE TURN OF THE TIDE

By Horace Annesley Vachell

[Copyrighted, 1908.]

"No," said Edward, between his teeth. At the evil word he winced. This mortgage on a fine property was his hair shirt, to be worn next his skin till he died. Hugo did not press the point, divining that his brother's pride was adamantine, solid as the foundations of his house. And he knew that Cynthia would applaud this refusal to touch money that in a sense might be deemed not altogether without taint. The neighbours, if the mortgage were lifted with Hugo's money, would shake their heads knowingly and whisper to each other that this had been the price of recognition and whitewashing.

These same neighbours greeted the prodigal without the enthusiasm manifested at his club. Hugo could not escape from the conviction that he had ceased to be of them. Possibly, the Suffolk Squires and their dames expected an exhibition of sackcloth and ashes. Hugo's smiles were characterized by the vicar's wife as brazen.

All would have been forgotten and forgiven had he behaved with reasonable civility to the women. But he shunned them, not only because their prattle bored him, but for the hardly formulated reason that they belonged to the sex of Angela Tempest. Always he had taken women at their own valuation, never attempting to peer beneath the obscuring veil, of pleasant looks and words. Now, to his dismay, he found himself cynically mistrustful of every specious sentiment. He sniffed, so to speak, at the very milk of human kindness, wondering whether it had turned sour. When he spoke of this to Cynthia, she laughed.

"The milk of human kindness is like all other milk; it absorbs odours, and you mustn't put a strong prejudice near it."

"I keep away on that account."

She laid her hand upon his sleeve.

"Dear Hugo, laugh with us, as you used to do, and not at us. We women have to pretend a little. And it is so lucky for you men that we refuse to acknowledge that our dolls are stuffed with sawdust."

"You don't play with dolls still?"

"Oh, yes, I do, thank Heaven! And," her fingers tightened upon his arm, "the old dolls that are a bit battered are the ones I like best to play with."

"I see," said Hugo, with a deprecating smile. Then, with an entire change of voice and manner, he said almost savagely:

"You can't go on playing with me, Cynthia, unless you put in new sawdust."

"That's what I should like to do."

"We won't talk about it, but one thing is certain, I shall never be a doll again. Perhaps marionette is a better word."

"We are all marionettes. And if the right person pulls the string we enjoy our dancing."

"Ah—the right person! Just so."

But immediately he changed the subject. Not even to Cynthia had he spoken of Joy Vennable. He would have liked to do so, and at interminable length, but he could not trust himself. Whenever an opportunity of confessing presented itself, he thought of Esme Burgess and Tresilian sobbing their hearts out; a terrible and humiliating spectacle!

On the moor above the King's Stone, with his head buried in the heather, he had let his soul burst from bondage. Such men as Hugo Charteris enter alone into the Garden of Gethsemane.

He thought of Joy always.

Her name obsessed him. A pleasure-seeker, life without joy, that joie de vivre which had distinguished him and made him so attractive to others, seemed intolerably drab and futile. Woe to those who discover too late what the true joy of the world is! Who see it, feel it, are intoxicated by its divine fragrance, and know that it has passed them by because they are unworthy and unclean.

During this month of May, every flower unveiling its tender petals to the sun, every bird and beast in the woods and fields, the shy awkward couples, the Jacks and Gills of the village, walking with interlaced fingers, silent, stupid, but, for the moment, thrilling with an emotion they knew to be greater and more mysterious than any other experience—these tormented Hugo with the Chinese torture of Ling: the infliction of a thousand cuts, none of them deep and kind enough to inflict death.

At the end of the month he went away. Cynthia said to her husband: "He won't come back."

"Of course, he will. I daresay he was a bit hipped. Nothing to shoot, but next autumn—with the show of birds we're likely to have—! Lucky beggar, I call him."

"Edward! Can't you see that he's wretched?"

"Pooh! Never saw him looking fitter."

"That's the tragedy of it; to be so strong and young, with a constitution that may carry him on to eighty."

"My dear, time and a nice young woman will put things straight."

Edward spoke in his usual didactic tone, rather annoyed that his wife should exhibit signs of tears. Her eyes had been dry enough when he told her that they might have to let the shooting. She had not dropped a tear when an epidemic ravaged his flocks and herds.

"A nice young woman—yes but, perhaps, a really nice young woman, who doesn't know all that we know, might hesitate."

"Pooh! Not she. You keep your eyes open!"

"I always do," said Cynthia. To herself she reflected: "Not quite always."

For she knew that Hugo had gone out of her life, and that up to the last moment she had blinded herself to the conviction, never frankly admitted, that their lines in life must lie apart. She must remain where she was, surrounded by a moat which reflected so faithfully every stone in the ancient house that she was proud to call her home. Hugo must set forth on his quest for happiness.

Travelling up to London, Hugo told himself that the visit had been a mistake. He had sought rest and not found it.

The quiet life had exasperated him. And the grim spectre of poverty, which he was not allowed to expel with a cheque, haunted him. Deflated entirely of his usual optimism, he saw plainly the pinching effects of this never-ending struggle between ways and means. With advancing years, Edward was growing more irritable, turning into the waxy paterfamilias: the terror of his wife and sons. Cynthia was losing her charming look of youth.

FIRE STARTERS MUST STAND SUIT

EVIDENCE HAS BEEN OBTAINED AND SUITS PREPARED

WANTS GOOD FIRE PATROL

State Forester Griffith Suggests System Similar to the One Adopted in Oregon

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 24.—That suits will be brought this winter, where evidence has been obtained against responsible parties for setting forest fires in northern Wisconsin last fall and that an efficient fire patrol, patterned along the lines of the association in the state of Washington, to guard and extinguish fires in their incipiency were suggestions made by State Forester E. M. Griffith in an interview today. He intends to make these as recommendations to the next session of the legislature.

Conservation Working

"As if in mockery of the efforts of the state and nation to conserve the remaining timber supply of the commonwealth the fire fiend swept through northern Wisconsin during four months of 1908 and left a trail of desolation in its destruction of millions of feet of mature and young timber, of farmers and settlers' homes and barns, of school houses, of bridges and thousands of men exhausted by their work in attempting to stay its progress," said Mr. Griffith. "The heavy toll also includes one life lost while the victim was fighting fire. Measured by the standard of dollars and cents, the fire partially destroyed merchantable timber and property valued at $2,996,975; the damage to the future forests of our prosperous state—millions of acres of small but thrifty growth of pine and hardwoods having been swept over by the flames—being valued at $6,047,060, making a total loss to the state of approximately $9,000,000. Nature's work of years in reforestration over millions of acres was quickly nullified, and where the fire burned the humus and left nothing but the baked subsoil it will be many years before nature can repair the damage."

Drouth Was Responsible

He spoke of the drouth during the fall and of the fires starting during early September. The farmer often considers that the fire is an easy way of clearing the land, he declared, but "the fallacy of this method of reasoning is apparent, when we realize that even surface fires destroy the humus, which is nature's fertilizer, and that the annual fires in northern Wisconsin have reduced thousands upon thousands of acres to a condition aproaching that of a desert."

"Figures revealing the area burned over, the losses suffered by the lumbermen and farmers, and the estimated cost of fighting the fires convey but partially the story of Wisconsin's loss," he continued. "Reports made to this office by the fire wardens of the state show that 1,209,432 acres were burned over come to the attention of the war- by the 1,453 individual fires, which dens.

Farmers Responsible.

"Of this large number of fires fully 60 per cent were started by farmers burning brush or clearing pasture lands or by settlers clearing their holdings of logs and stumps. About 15 per cent were due to sparks from locomotives. The remaining 25 per cent is attributed to various causes such as carelessness of hunters and campers, logging crews, trespassers, berry pickers, Indans, traveling along the public highway, and lightning."

Lumber Companies Aid.

Mr. Griffith declared that logging concerns in northern Wisconsin expended time and money in extinguishing the conflagration. One company spent $10,000 in fighting the fire, and other concerns expended from $500 to $3,000 each. He declared that more than 11,000 men were engaged in the protective work during the siege of the flames; that the townships spent $43,850 in hiring fire wardens and gangs, hundreds volunteered their service free and an additional $55,820 was spent by the lumber companies.

Large Losses in North.

"The largest losses incurred by timber owners were in Chippewa, Douglas, Florence, Iron, Langlade, Lincoln, Marathon, Marinette, Oconto, Oneida, Price, Rusk, Sawyer and Vilas counties," added Mr. Griffith. "Practically 97 per cent of the damage to commercial timber was done by the fires in those fourteen counties."

State Loses Much.

Approximately 20,000 acres of state forest reserve lands containing young timber were burned over, and, as the young growth was unusually good in some sections, the loss amounts to at least $150,000.

Should Amend Law.

Mr. Griffith contends that the present law for fining persons for setting fires should be amended and a minimum fine of $50 be imposed. The present law also opens the way for the bringing of a civil action for the collection of double of the amount of damage suffered and it is in this connection that the state forester suggested that suits would be brought this winter. He adds that a law should also be passed forbidding the starting of a fire, except in winter, unless the permission of the local fire warden be obtained in advance.

Wants Fire Patrol.

"Before another season shall be at hand it is expected that an efficient fire patrol, patterned along the lines of the association in the state of Washington, will have been organized and by a system of guards will locate and extinguish fires in their incipiency," he said in conclusion. "If this be done the fire hazard in Wisconsin will be minimized, and the Badger state will be enabled to replenish its forests for all time to come."

A LEGISLATURE LIKE BEDLAM

United States Senator Albert J. Hopkins at Left, Congressman George E. Foss at Right

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 17.—The coming session of the Illinois legislature will be a veritable bedlam. With a fierce fight on for the speakership, with an election recount pending and last but not least, the United States senatorship in t he balance, the legislative program is indeed full.

The first and greatest battle will be over Senator Hopkins' seat at Washington. It will be remembered that Illinois had an advisory promary this year, in which all of the condidates for senator participated. If the result in the state is to be taken as a whole, Senator Hopkins won an easy re-election in the legislature, because he carried more districts than his republican opponent. however, was the young and eloquent congressman George Edmund Foss, who made a strong score in the primary, although losig in the total. Friends of Foss claim that the primary must not be viewed from the standpoint of the state wide total, but that the opinion district by district must be considered.

If the opinion by districts is to prevail, then Hopkins would have 80 votes on joint ballot in the legislature, Foss would have 27, ex-Senator Mason 12 and the democratic Mr. Stringer 79. This would give Senator Hopkins a lead but not a major ity, and would open the way for a Foss fight. The Hopkins men, however, insist that the primary vote was for the purpose of ascertaining the sentiment of the entire state, and not of a single district, and the advisory vote is binding on the whole republican membership of the legislature. If this construction is followed, and all of the republicans line up for him, he would have a total of 125 votes or 22 more than necessary.

It is evident that there is to be a battle royal, however, before this construction is accepted, and Springfield is anticipating one of the liveliest legislative contests which has pressed the capital in years.

DEFEATED HEPBURN FOR CONGRESS IN 8th IA. DISTRICT

The Man Who Defeated W. P. Hepburn for Congress in the Eighth Iowa District.

SHENANDOAH, Ia., Nov. 18. — W. D. Jamieson, who has defeated William Peters Hepburn for congress in the Eighth Iowa district, is a democratic leader whose success was due to his enlisting the active aid of the young men in the district. He is 35 years old and the proprietor of the Shenandoah World. Hepburn has represented the district since 1892, and has been so prominent in congress that it was thought he would be sure of re-election. His opponent, who carried eight of the twelve counties in the district, began his career by being elected state senator in a strongly republican district.

TRUTH

THE quality of being true, to whatever it may be—to be "honest" in whatever you "say" and "do"—to cling precisely to the "truth," has gained and maintained for many men and institutions a good reputation—the reward of sticking to that powerful factor.

So it is with this great successful organization. We attribute our brilliant success, solely to the fact of our "honest" and authentic business methods—a "square deal" for everybody and when we say "square deal" we mean it with the true and full sense of the word.

That this store, so stirctly advocates and lives up to the "One Price" system is sufficient proof of The Continental's unswerving determination to give you the "best values" for your money and that The Continental really does give the best value is eloquently borne out by the testimony of a wonderful patronage.

If you read the advertisements of local clothiers and see how, with "bombast," "misrepresentations" and exaggerations, they are trying to make you believe that they are giving you something for nothing.

We ask you to read—compare the "methods" employed — investigate — compare merchandise and prices. Find out which is a "One Price" store and which is not, then you'll come to the conclusion that our is the "one" only "honest" and "original" offer of all offers.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Belinda (Mason) Leonard entered into the larger life November 17, 1908, at West Salem, Wis.

She was born in Dighton, Mass., June 23, 1811.

She was a member of the Mason family who came to this country in 1649.

This family was always among the leaders for political and religious liberty.

The establishment of religious liberty has been acounted the most important event of the nineteenth century.

A new church founded by the Masons was remarkable as the forerunner of the liberal spirit that was to prevail at a much later date.

The family came west in 1850 and Thomas Leonard (1806-1878) became a prominent factor in the promoting of every honorable enterprise for the development of the resources of the country.

In his demise La Crosse county lost an enterprising and progressive citizen. (Memoirs of La Crosse County.)

Our mother retained her mental faculties to the last. She was a true altruist. A strong and noble soul; seeking always the best; a heart always alive with the noblest sympathies; a spirit animate with justice, truth and goodness. In friendship most constant. A generous and kindly presence has gone from us.

TARIFF INQUIRY A ONE-SIDED AFFAIR

CONSUMERS HAVE NO MEANS OF PRESENTING CASE

INTERESTS ALL VERY ACTIVE

Protected Industries Crowd Before Committee and Real Revision Downwards Is Unlikely

Washington Bureau of
The La Crosse Tribune.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 24.
(By J. C. Welliver.)

The hearings before the house ways and means committee on the tariff schedules have progressed far enough to emphasize the difficulties of revising the tariff. Those that have forgotten the difficulties of preparing and enacting the Dingley law and earlier tariff measures can easily get some idea of what those troubles are by dropping into the ways and means committee offices and listening to the pleas of the representatives of the different interests who appear there.

Mr. Taft recently expressed the opinion that the consumers should make themselves heard and while this advice is undeniably good, if there is to be real overhauling of schedules and revision of the tariff downward, there is little indication that consumers will adequately present their side of the case. They cannot afford to spend the time and money necessary to go before the committee as a rule. In the meantime, the protected interests of the country are appearing before the committee in force and are as a rule resisting any reductions in duties. Many demands for increased duties are made.

Pressure is Tremendous

It is apparent that the ways and means committee and congress are going to be under tremendous pressure not to lower schedules. If the ways and means committee frames a bill in which there are material reductions, it will only be done in the face of strong resistance from manufacturers and producers, and the pulling and hauling in both houses to keep the duties up will be of the most strenuous kind. Were the ways and means committee a revision body, this effort of protected industries to avoid giving way an inch on schedules would probably cut little figure in the bill. But the ways and means committee as made up now and as Mr. Cannon will make it up in the sixty-first congress is not a revision body. Ardent standpatters control it, men of whom Representative Fordney of Michigan is a type. Mr. Fordney believes in high tariff schedules and in the hearings omits no opportunity to bring out a point that resolves in favor of maintaining present schedules or increasing schedules.

Revise the Other Fellow

Senator Stephen B. Elkins said the other day that everyone was in favor of "revising the other fellow's tariff." This in a nutshell is the situation. He also served notice that the lowering of the schedules on the things in which West Virginia is chiefly interested, lumber, iron and steel, would be fought to the uttermost. He did not say so in so many words but left the impression, obviously the correct one, that the delegations of a number of states in congress will use their endeavors to see that these schedules are not lowered greatly and certainly not lowered, as some propose, to the point of no protection. This suggests what is inevitably going to happen when it comes to the attempt to lower schedules. A great amount of logrolling will be tried and in all probability tried with success. For instance, the West Virginia delegation will probably find it easy to do what the members of the house and senate from the beet sugar states want if the beet sugar members in turn stand by the schedules that West Virginia does not want to see touched or at least not heavily pared. Such situations are seemingly impossible to escape from when a tariff bill is before congress.

Downward Change Unlikely

The more the tariff situation is studied by those following the hearings, fully cognizant of the clamor going up not to lower the schedules affecting this industry and that industry, the more they are convinced that real revision downward is unlikely. Even if Mr. Taft does his utmost for revision downwards, he will find the game of log-rolling as played on tariff a hard one to beat. Already talk is heard that the majority of the committee on ways and means is not disposed to reduce the lumber schedules and that it is not disposed to change the sugar schedules, unless it be to admit a limited amount of Philippine sugar at lower rates; moreover, it is said the lumber and sugar interests have been led to believe that unless there is great White house pressure they will not be visited with reduction of duties.

May Force Commission Plan

It will not be surprising if the troubles encountered in the forthcoming attempt at revision will lead to increased sentiment for the tariff commission plan, involving a careful, lengthy, non-partisan and scientific inquiry into the tariff needs of the United States. Unless signs fail, the tariff question will in no wise be disposed of by the action of congress the coming special session. It will be as much in the public mind and in partisan politics as ever in all likelihood, a fact that will be an argument for the commission plan, such as Germany followed, with seemingly a large measure of success.

Save This Recipe. It Makes an Excellent Cough Remedy

By making up some of the remedy described below and having it in the house ready for use, you can quickly nip a cold or cough in the bud and avoid most of the usual annoyance and possible suffering. At any rate the recipe is worth saving, so that when a cough or cold enters your home you will know how to conquer it quickly. Although very simple and inexpensive, this home-made remedy is really superior to any ready-made cough syrup you can buy. Use: Granulated Sugar Syrup ...13½ oz. Pinex ..... 2½ oz.

Put the Pinex in a pint bottle and fill up the bottle with Granulated Sugar Syrup, made as follows: To one pint of Granulated Sugar add one-half cup of water, stir and let boil just a moment. Shake the mixture well and take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours as required.

Taken when the first symptoms appear, this simple remedy will drive away a cough or cold almost immediately. Even deep-seated, obstinate coughs usually yield to it inside of twenty-four hours. It is also excellent for incipient consumption, bronchial troubles, whooping cough, hoarseness and similar ailments. Is equally good for adults and children. The taste is very pleasant.

This prescription is effective for the same reason that the air of the pine forests is so effective in the cure of tuberculosis and other membrane diseases. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway White Pine Extract, and is rich in guaiacol and other healing elements of the pine. The Granulated Supar Syrup is an excellent sedative.

In making this remedy do not expect good results by using any of the weaker pine oil or pine tar preparations. Use the full strength Pinex. If your druggist does not have it he will be glad to get it for you if you ask him to do so.

The Granulated Sugar costs about four cents and the Pinex about fifty cents. So the cost is only about fifty-four cents for a whole pint—enough to last a family for a long time. If kept well corked it will never spoil.

KILLS DEER WHILE RIDING IN.

SUPERIOR, Wis., Nov. 24.—Here is the realest story of the hunting season. One for which none will stand responsible except the hunter who tells it upon himself.

Henry Linker was eating lunch in the wilderness near here when he was attacked by a buck that rushed from the underbrush. Linker forgot his gun in a mad rush for a sapling, which he climbed. The tree, however, would not bear his weight, and he dropped upon the back of the buck, which, frightened at receiivng a rider, dashed away across a clearing.

Linker hung on for dear life while he drew his razor, and, leaning over the buck's neck, cut its throat. The deer was eaten before the party returned home.

FINE JAP SEALERS $35,400.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 24.—Word has been received here that Judge Reed of Alaska has fined the crew of the Japanese sealer, Kinsai Maru, convicted of seal poaching, an aggregate of $35,400, or $300 for every man convicted. The Japanese will appeal. The men were captured when two sealing vessels were seized last August.

BRYAN PLEDGES A SAFE JUDICIARY

NEBRASKAN SAID TO HAVE SUBMITTED LISTS FOR BENCH

IT WON CONSERVATIVES' AID

Also Promised that Secretary of the Treasury Shall Be a Strong Character

NEW YORK, Nov. 24—William E. Curtis says:

"One of the well-kept secrets of the recent campaign was an assurance given by Mr. Bryan to what are known as the Cleveland democracy, and sometimes called the McKinley democrats, concerning his choice of a secretary of the treasury in case of his election, and the character of men he would select for probable vacancies in the supreme bench. Those were the most critical danger spots in the Bryan situation, and the conservative element in the democratic party, which opposed him in 1896 and 1900, insisted upon some assurance before they would support him this time.

Story Essentially True.

"There are several stories in circulation. All may be true without conflicting. One of them is that Mr. Bryan submitted a list of twelve names of democrats of unquestioned ability and integrity, and promised that he would select his secretary of the treasury from among them. From the same authority it is learned that he submitted a list of thirty eminent lawyers who have belonged to the democratic party and agreed that he would fill vacancies upon the supreme bench from among them in case he was elected. Another version is that he offered to furnish such a list, and mentioned several names that would be included. This was considered sufficient; his word was accepted, and the conservative democrats, who were afraid of a radical judiciary and a radical secretary of the treasury expressed their satisfaction. From another source I learn that Mr. Bryan specifically named Judge Gray of Delaware to succeed Chief Justice Fuller, Alton B. Parker to succeed Judge Peckham, and named two eminent democratic lawyers, one from Kentucky and one from Tennessee, for the seat of Judge Harlan when that distinguished jurist decided to retire.

Made List on Menu

"As I said, these stories do not conflict, and it is possible that all of them may be true, but I have not been able to find any one who has seen the alleged lists. A member of Mr. Cleveland's cabinet told me that e does not believe any formal list was ever furnished, but understands that Mr. Bryan wrote some names upon the back of a menu at a dinner party and passed them around for the approval of the other guests. He will not admit having seen the list himself, but knows people who did see it."

TAFT GETTING FACTS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 24.—President-elect Taft is making a careful investigation of the speakership preference of the republican congressmen from Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota. It develops that these three states are regarded as hanging in the balance, in case of a great contest between Cannon and Taft, and that the side which controls them is almost certain to control the house and elect the speaker.

If there is a fight after all and Judge Taft can secure reasonable assurances that these three states will be friendly to the man of his choice, the Taft forces may bring forward a candidate for speaker.

WOMAN'S INFLUENCE

A delegation of young men lately waited on their employer's wife with the oddest request on record. "You see, madam," said the spokesman, "we want to have a half holiday every Saturday. Now, if you will be particularly nice to Mr. Page for a few days we'll go to him and ask"—

"Gentlemen," the lady haughtily interrupted, "do you imply that I do not understand what is due to my husband?"

"Oh, I know all about it, madam," the spokesman went on. "I'm married myself. Things go wrong in the house, and you're tired and cross at breakfast. Then we suffer at the office. You stay up late to chaperon your daughter at a ball, and we have more trouble at the office. You're a bit cross three mornings in succession for one reason or another, and we have a—a—terrible time at the office.

"You see how the matter stands and how greatly you will oblige us by being more than usually agreeable to Mr. Page for three or four days. The fourth day give him the best breakfast you can—everything that he likes best—and we'll get what we want in three minutes.

"Talk about a woman having no influence in the business! Why, the humor she's in has more effect than a bank failure or a boom in trade."

She thought she ought to be angry, but instead she laughed and agreed to the proposition, and four days later when they waited on the head of the firm he made the closing hour 12 o'clock and said never in the history of the firm had things run as satisfactorily as they had during the last four days.—London Tit-Bits.

MENOMINEE HAS A $20,000 FIRE

MENOMINIE, Wis., Nov. 24.—Fire badly damaged the Johnson building at the corner of Main and Broadway, occupied by Strand & Son as a department store on the first floor and by the Independent Order of Odd Fellows as a lodge room, and three doctors' offices, on the second floor. The fire also damaged a barber shop adjoining. The injury to stock was chiefly from water.

The origin of the fire is unknown. The loss was about $20,000, fairly covered by insurance.

HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

RACINE, Wis., Nov. 24.—Father Miller and his nephew, Frank J. Miller, narrowly escaped injury here. Mr. Miller had spent Sunday here and his nephew was hurrying him to the interurban station in an automobile. At State street and Lafayette aveune a delivery wagon came along on the wrong side of the street. Mr. Miller checked his auto, but not in time to avoid a collision. Father Miller was thrown against the front of the automobile, as was his nephew, but both escaped injury. The machine was ruined and so was the delivery wagon.

"THERE'S A REASON"

WISCONSIN NEWS

NOW LOOK FOR A FIGHT IN SENATE

WILL CONTEST "IKE" IN THE UPPER HOUSE

ARE PLEDGED TO INVESTIGATE

Majority Have Given Word to See Investigation Through and a Lively Time Is Expected

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 24. — Despite the fact that a close poll of the assembly shows that the friends of Mr. Stephenson may have a sufficient vote in the lower house of the Wisconsin legislature to prevent even over a union of the progressive republican, the democratic and social democratic members, the passage of a resolution for an investigation into the expenses of candidates in the primary election, the friends of an investigation resolution believe that such an investigation will be held.

It is now likely that only a state senate investigaton of the primary will be asked. There is no doubt a single house has the right to investigate and there is little doubt either that the friends of an investigation resolution have a sufficient support in the upper house of the Wisconsin legislature to pass an investigation resolution.

To Hoid Up Election.

As a complement to the investigation resolution, it is said a measure will be passed that the senate shall give only a blank vote on the first day of the balloting for United States senator and shall absent itself from the joint convention of the houses to be held each day thereafter until after the senatorial investigation of the primary election is completed.

That this is the program now contemplated at Madison to secure an investigation of the primary no one who has talked with the La Follette leaders can for a moment doubt, and that it is a program which not only makes the fight interesting, but which may block the election of Mr. Stephenson finally to the United States senate is admitted by close followers of the political situation here.

Danger Is Foreseen.

The Stephenson leaders see the danger in the program and are already considering plans to block the move for a senatorial investigation.

The La Follette leaders, however, claim this cannot be done and say that eighteen members of the senate will stand by the resolutions which will be put up to the senate by the La Follette leaders.

Assembly Situation.

It can be said that even on joint ballot the situation is not so favorable to the Stephenson leaders as they might desire. A very close poll of the assembly giving practically all the doubtful members to the Stephenson column would make the vote on an investigation resolution in the assembly a tie vote. This is, of course, basing the estimate on the belief that all the democratic members will stand by the platform pledge of the democrats and vote for an investigation resolution. The poll of the assembly shows thirty progressive republicans, fifty Stephenson supporters, sixteen democrats and four socialists. Thus, because legislation is defeated by a tie vote, the Stephenson men could prevent its passage in the assembly.

As will be seen, however, the progressive republicans with the aid of the democrats and socialists have a majority sufficient to postpone a United States senatorial vote in the joint convention.

TWO SHOT WHILE HUNTING RABBITS

EWAUNEE, Wis., Nov. 24.—Phillip Waegli, night watchman at the Green Bay & Western round-house here, was badly wounded while hunting rabbits. Waegli was seated on a stump smoking when his shotgun, which he had leaned against the stump, was accidentally discharged, the full charge entering Waegli just above the heart and shattering his shoulder blade. The wounded man was assisted to a nearby farmhouse by Herman Tegge, who was with him at the time, and medical aid was called.

SHEBOYGAN FALLS, Wis., Nov. 24.—Theodore Kemper was accidentally shot while hunting rabbits with William Grossheim. So far as can be learned Grossheim was placing a shell in his gun when it discharged, the bullet landing in Kemper's hip. The wound is not supposed to be of more than a painful nature.

Lost in Woods.

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis., Nov. 24.—John Frank of Trempealeau has been lost in the woods of northern Rusk county for one week and four men with whom he had hunted, started today in search of him. They had spent several days last week searching for Frank and then gave up, believing he had found his way home. On their arrival here on Saturday they learned that Frank had not been heard of by his relatives. It is feared Frank has been accidentally shot.

RACINE HAS A BURGLAR "FEST"

RACINE, Wis., Nov. 24.—Racine is infested with a gang of burglars, porchclimbers and sneak thieves. Within a month ten places have been entered and diamonds, watches and pins carried away. First was the home of Mrs. Knoblock, three pieces of jewelry stolen; residence of Mrs. John M. Osgood, twenty pieces of jewelry; Mrs. Jerome I. Case, diamonds and watches; Racine Boat company offices. Last night the home of William Van Middlescamp was entered and watches stolen. Frank Ray of Lake avenue caught a man climbing in his bedroom window and he escaped. Porch-climbers tried the home of B. B. Northrop, without success. A number of hold-ups were attempted.

AND THEY KISSED AND HAVE MADE UP

"Abraham Assfor and his wife have kissed and made up.

This was the announcement received by County Judge Brindley over the phone yesterday.

Mrs. Assfor swore out a warrant last week charging her husband with beating her every time she talked. The defendant has failed to put in an appearance in court on previous occasions and the case was set for trial yesterday. Instead of the appearance of the parties in the suit the above telephone message settled the case.

STOP FOOD FERMENTING

Free Yourself from Dread Stomach Trouble by Taking a Little Diapepsin Which Digests Everything You Eat.

As there is often some one in your family who suffers an attack of Indigestion or some form of Stomach trouble, why don't you keep a case of Diapepsin in the house handy?

This harmless blessing will digest anything you can eat without the slightest discomfort, and regulate a sour Stomach five minutes after.

Tell your pharmacist to let you read the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will readily see why they cure Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Heartburn and prevent at once such miseries as Belching of Gas, Eructations of sour undigested food, Nausea, Headaches, Dizziness, Constipation and other Stomach disorders.

Some folks have tried so long to find relief from Indigestion with the common every-day cures advertised that they have about made up their minds that they have something else wrong, or believe theirs is a case of Nervousness, Gastritis, Catarrh of the Stomach or Cancer.

This is a serious mistake. Your real trouble is, what you eat does not digest; instead, it ferments and sours, turns to acid Gas and Stomach poison, which will putrefy in the entire digestive tract and intestines, and, besides, poison the breath with nauseous odors.

A hearty appetite, with thorough digestion, and without the slightest discomfort or misery of the Stomach, is waiting for you as soon as you decide to try Pape's Diapepsin.

One candy-like Triangule, taken after eating, will promptly digest all your food, the same as a strong, healthy stomach would do it.

How Is Your Digestion.

Mrs. Mary Dowling of No. 228 8th Ave., San Francisco, recommends a remedy for stomach trouble. She says: "Gratitude for the wonderful effect of Electric Bitters in a case of acute indigestion, prompts this testimonial. I am fully convinced that for stomach and liver troubles Electric Bitters is the best remedy on the market today." This great tonic and alterative medicine invigorates the system, purifies the blood and is especially helpful in all forms of female weakness. 50c at O. T. Erhart's drug store.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 24.—Three men were injured, one probably fatally, when two freight trains on the wheeling and Lake Erie collided at Salle Junction, Ohio.

Watched Fifteen Years.

"For fifteen years I have watched the working of Bucklen's Arnica Salve; and it has never failed to cure any sore, boil, ulcer or burn to which it was applied. It has saved us many a doctor bill," says A. F. Hardy, of East Wilton, Maine, 25c at O. T. Erhart's drug store.

THANIKSGIVING IS ASSURED FOR POOR

Arrangements have been made to take care of the needy for Thanksving. The Humane society will try to feed at least half of the 218 poor people in the city who are unable to provide the joys of a Thanksgiving dinner. The public schools will do a great deal of charitable work furnishing baskets and money for the Thanksgiving feast of the poor.

The prisoners at the county jail will be given extra attention in the line of eatables as a chicken dinner has been arranged which will include all the good things necessary to make the feast a sumptuous one.

La France
SHOE for WOMEN

You naturally want a shoe that is not only a source of the highest admiration when you see it in the store and try it on, but one that you can wear a long time and still be proud of.

La France shoes fulfill this requirement as no other shoes can. They fit comfortably and look well because they are glove-like in construction—that is to say, the inside of the shoes is so made as to present no rough edges or ridges to hurt the feet and make the outside of the shoes irregular and unattractive.

This is a very important point and one which, combined with the beautiful materials and dainty, shapely lines found in this shoe, produce a result of which any woman in the land may be proud. ¶Won't you come in and see for yourself the first time you have a chance?

If the very top notch of comfort is any object to you, ask to see the La France Flexible Welt shoe—a shoe with a leather sole so elastic that it yields instantly to pressure, giving a really remarkable degree of elasticity and comfort to the foot.

WORK ON ENGINES VERY SEVERE

The engines that were used on the Milwaukee extension are being brought to the Milwaukee shops at Milwaukee. They are very much run down from the work they were used for. The Milwaukee shops at Milneapolis are full of the extension engines which are there for general overhauling and about twenty engines have passed through here enroute for Milwaukee, where they will be overhauled. The work of breaking in the new road is very hard on these engines.

TRY NEW LIGHTS

A new carbon headlight is being given a trial on one of the Milwaukee engines and if it is a success they will be used on the new extension.

This headlight will not throw the light as far as an electric headlight but to stand in front of the light and look at it would be impossible as the light is strong and blinding.

NEW YARD OFFICE

A new yard office has been built at the Charles street crossing and all the switching orders will be given from there.

At present all trains are made up in the new yards and as soon as the wiring is finished the orders will be given to conductors from the new office for their trains.

A new caboose track has been made so as to be able to be near the new office for special and short notice orders.

NORTHSIDE IN BRIEF

The German Ladies' society will be entertained Friday at Mrs. Stevenson's, 1512 Berlin street.

Mr. Barber of 1302 Charles street is making new improvements on his house.

Mrs. Henry Knebes of 1202 Kane street will entertain a few of her relatives at a Thanksgiving supper next Thursday evening. A short program has been prepared for the occasion.

Mrs. Frank Groeschner of 1318 Kane street will entertain a large number of friends next Thursday at a Thanksgiving dinner.

The little 4 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Harland of 1216 Kane street is seriously ill.

Mr. F. F. Rouse and son Fred will leave today for Hannibal, Mo., where they will spend Thanksgiving with relatives.

Mr. George Stintze has returned to his home in St. Paul after spending a few days' visit with friends and relatives.

A Union Thanksgiving will be held at the Tabernacle Baptist church Wtdnesday evening for all the North side churches.

Miss Grace McClinton arrived home Sunday evening from New York, being called by the critical illness of her mother, who is at the St. Francis hospital.

Mr. J. W. Snow Sr. has returned from a business trip in Green Bay.

FATAL CAR WRECK

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 24.—Caught in the crash as two street cars that in a head-n collision here today, eight persons were seriously hurt and one may die. Several victims were pinned under the car for ten minutes and were in danger of being burned to death as the overturned stove threatened to set fire to the wreckage.

STAMP CRAZE HITS THE ENTIRE STATE

"BUY A STAMP" SLOGAN HEARD EVERYWHERE

GOOD PROGRESS BEING MADE

Various Organizations Throughout the State Have Taken up Matter and Fund is Growing

"Buy a stamp" is the slogan of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association in the campaign of education started this week, and reports to the headquarters, 411 Goldsmith building, Milwaukee, indicate that the people of the state are taking an interest in the work. Stanley A. Douglas, campaign manager, has arranged all details and is ready to receive pplictions for the Red Cross stmps at one cent each. The association plans to sell at least 2,000,000 of these stamps before January 1. The proceeds of the sale will be devoted exclusively to the crusade against the white plague in this state.

Stamps Selling Fast

Good progress is being made in the work of selling the stamps. Milwaukee people as well as citizens of the state at large are beginning to realize the importance of the campaign. They are beginning to realize that not only do they assist in raising funds for the work by zpying stamps, but they are assisting in a campaign of education regarding the disease. Each stamp bears the message from sender to receiver that the white plague can be stamped out if the people as a whole observe the simple rules of hygiene laid down by medical men who have determined that tuberculosis can and must be cured.

Stamps Increase Fund.

The purchaser of the stamp adds his little mite to the fund and the importance of the crusade is brought to his attention. He sends the stamp on his holiday package, letter or greeting, and attracts the attention of the receiver to it.

Milwaukee Support Good.

In Milwaukee the association has enlisted the support of a number of leading organizations and societies, and it is expected that similar societies in the state will come forward in the same way. It is urgent that the people of the state as a whole give their support, for the benefit will not accrue to any one section but to every individual.

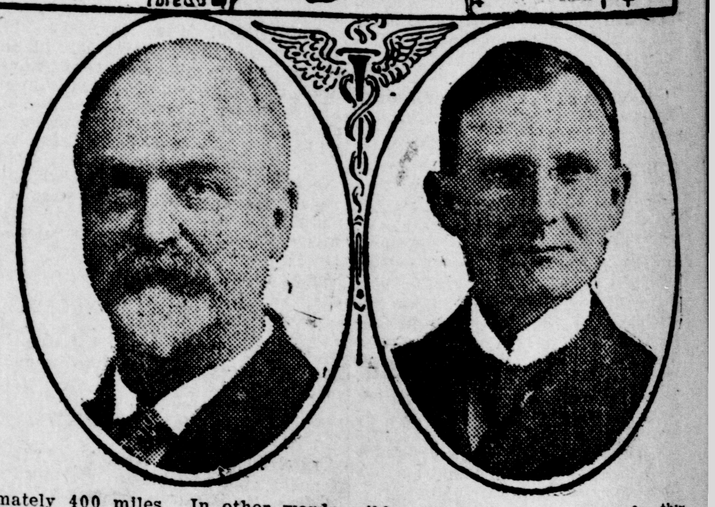

Applications for stamps should be directed to Stanley A. Douglas, 411 Goldsmith building, Milwaukee.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE

The West Avenue Methodist Episcopal church will hold its accustomed Thanksgiving service, Thursday evening at 7:30. Special music by the choir. Everybody cordially invited. The pastor, W. P. Cunningham, will preach upon the subject, "The Spirit of Thanksgiving."

PROPOSED DEEP WATERWAY ACROSS MICHIGAN

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov 13.—The impetus given inland waterways by the Roosevelt administration has taken root in Michigan. A deep waterway 120 feet wide and 21 feet deep across the lower peninsula from Grand Haven to Saginaw is the purpose of the Grand-Saginaw Valleys Deep Waterway association.

The members of the association basing their faith upon the recommendations of such eminent hydraulic engineers as Lyman E. Cooley, Alfred Noble and the late George W. Wisner, are convinced that such a waterway is feasible and practical

Just what the results of a deep waterway across Michigan will be is not hard to determine. The distance saved by this canal in all shipments around the peninsula, say from Chicago to Detroit, is approximately 400 miles. In other words, freight from Chicago to Detroit could be shipped by water at a much lower freight rate than is now possible, through the saving of this distance and the necessary expense connected with carrying freight this 400 miles.

FAT LADIES ROLL ON FLOOR? NOT YET!

LOGANSPORT, Ind., Nov. 24.—"We won't roll on the floor," was the ultimatum delivered by a dozen society women when Miss Margaret M. Hall, who organized a class in physical culture, insisted they had to emulate her example..

A class in the science of reducing adipose tissue was organized, following a series of health lectures, and enthusiasm ran high among the women until the instructor rolled from one end of the hall to the other, and invited her class to follow her.

"You've got to do it or leave the class," she said, and, while the more enthusiastic matrons and maids rolled anl played leapfrog, the rebellious members marched out in a body.

GETS TWO INTO TROUBLE.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 24.—J. N. McClure, a signal repair man employed at Altoona, Pa., and Joseph Capello, who is alleged to have accepted a railway pass from McClure, were both convicted of rebating in the United States court. The defendants are liable to a fine.

FLEET GUNNERS IRRISISTIBLE

MANILA, Nov. 24.—That no hostile ship could live five minutes under their fire was shown by the battle practice of the American fleet, according to experts who were in charge. The work of the American gunners is unequalled and the shooting exceeds all records of our navy. The men of the fleet were granted limited leave from Thursday to Sunday. It is believed that the intervention of Taft is responsible for Admiral Sperry's change of heart.

HEALTH OFFICERS SAY

Beware of Colds, they are Greatest Cause of Consumption.

The ravages of the dread "White plague" has aroused in the national health departments the keenest alarm and every effort is now being put forth to prevent its further spread. A prominent physician on the advisory board recently summed up the situation by declaring that if people would give common colds the proper attention the increase of consumption would be materially checked.

Below is given the formula for a very simple remedy for colds, which is said to be the quickest cure known, often entirely curing the severest cold in a day's time.

Two ounces of glycerine, one-half ounce Concentrated pine compound, half pint of good whiskey; this is to be used in doses of a teaspoonful to a tablespoonful every four hours, the bottle should be shaken well each time.

These ingredients are obtainable from any good druggist.

The Concentrated pine is a pine product refined for medical purposes and comes only in half ounce bottles, each enclosed in a round wood case, which is air-tight. To get the right thing be sure it is labeled "Concentrated."

HUGE LOBSTER FIGHTS FISHER

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 24. — John Marshall and Henry Silva of the fishing schooner Annie Perry had an experience with a huge lobster off Chatham a few days ago which convinced them there are times when lobsters are poor company They were out in a dory and pulled up a trawl which brought to the surface a lobster weighing twenty-eight pounds. He gave fight, inflicting several cuts on the fishermen before a blow put him out of commission.

EDMUND HELLER TO BE ROOSEVELT'S AFRICAN GUIDE

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23.—ttracted by the remarkable achievements of Edmund Heller in his explorations of strange and little known lands, Presidet Rooseveit has selected this 26-year-old Riverside (Cal.) man from lists of hundreds of scientists and naturalists of the nation, who aspired to the place to accompany him into the wilds of Africa next March.

The honor comes to the California boy not only unsolicited but unexpected. The fact of his appointment was first learned when his mother, Mrs. Marion Heller of Riverside, received a letter from the youthful explorer in which he declares that the president has sent him a cordial invitation and requested the state university museum authorities to release him for a year or so that he can accompany the Roosevelt expedition.

In his letter Heller modestly tells of the great honor offered him, gives the personnel of the party and its itinerary ,and outlines some of the duties that will devolve upon him. Heller has also traveled extensively in Mexico, Central America, South America, Alaska and other lands.

Heller, when seen at the university of California today, confirmed the report that he had been engaged to accompany the president to Africa. He is well known in this community and his choice by the president is a source of much gratification to the faculty and student body of the university with whom he is connected.

It is an open secret that the president's gun will not only bring down food for his party, but material for the Smithsonian museum, and it will be Heller's task to classify and write up t he specimens.

LIFT TARIFF OUT OF POLITICS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 24.—Among legislators who are something besides mere politicians there is a quickening sense of the necessity of lifting the tariff out of politics. This belief has been growing for several years and on one or two occasions it has been voiced by men in the senate and in the house. Mr. Beveridge's tariff commission idea was born of knowledge of the folly of keeping politics and the tariff in the marriage state. It is the conviction that while legislation is necessary to make and to abate tariffs preparation for such legislation should be in a council chamber from which politics is barred.

There has been progress along many lines in recent years. It is not too wild a dream, perhaps, that in the near future partisanship in dealing with the schedules will be absent and that they will be treated purely as a commercial proposition, and in that day the tariff will come into a realm of its own.

SIX ADMIRALS PRESENT

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Six admirals of the United States navy were visitors in Chicago today. They were here as the guests of honor and speakers at a banquet to be given tonight by the United States Naval Academy Alumni of the west. The party consists of Washington L. Capps, chief of construction of the navy; William H. Brownson, Francis J. Higginson, Albert Ross, French E. Chadwick and James H. Dayton.

The naval officials, although enthusiastic as to the conditions of our present fighting fleet, were all of the opinion that it should be increased.

Admiral Chadwick in discussing the navy remarked:

"This is the time to increase our navy. We are now in harmony with the world. Four vessels would be better than two vessels each year. Our men are the finest in the world today and our navy is our greatest defense."

NEW WIRELESS SYSTEM.

PARIS, Nov. 24.—Bollini and Tosi, Italian scientists, who, with the sanction of the French government, have been conducting experiments in wireless telegraphy for the last eighteen months on the coast of Normandy, announce that they have solved the problem of independent wireless communication. This result, they say, has been secured by means of two rectangular aerials fixed at right angles and so attached to the apparatus for reception transmission as to permit the transmission of unequal currents. By a single law of mechanics these two electro-magnetic forces unite and produce an electro-magnetic field and the Hertzian waves are projected in a single vertical plane which can be alternattd instantly by means of the Bollini device. The inventors claim that their system insures absolutely independent communication, and opens up immense advantages in the use of wireless telegraphy.

ONE MO. VOTE FOR BRYAN, NOT

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 24.—Only the peculiar Missouri law will prevent Bryan from getting one electoral vote from this state. Wm. H. Brannock, democrat elector of the Sixteenth district, received 233 more votes than Kiel, the republican elector-at-large. Brannock failed to defeat the republican elector in his district as the law requires.

SEE FOOTBALL GAME; ARRESTED

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 24.—Were Mr. and Mrs. James Powers cruel to their baby 8 weeks old when they left it in their house and went to the Illinois-Northwestern fottball game? Neighbors who were attracted to the scene by the lusty bawling of the infant seem to think so, for they caused the arrest of the parents on a charge of cruelty.

Those who marry in haste have plenty of time to pay alimony.

S.S.S. REMOVES THE CAUSE OF CATARRH

No remedy that does not entirely remove the cause of Catarrh from the blood will ever make a permanent cure of the trouble. Just as long as the circulation remains contaminated with the impurities and catarrhal matters which produce the trouble, the mucous membranes or inner linings of the body will be kept in a state of irritation and disease. Sprays, lotions and other local applications will sometimes temporarily relieve the tight, full feeling in the head, buzzing noises in the ears, uncomfortable, stuffy feeling of the nostrils, and help to loosen the mucus in the throat; but Catarrh is a constitutional blood disorder and until it has been entirely driven from the system there can be no permanent cure. S. S. S. cures Catarrh by removing the cause from the blood. It attacks the disease at its head and by thoroughly purifying and cleansing the circulation, and ridding it of every particle of impurity, and at the same time enriching the blood, allows the inflamed and irritated membranes to heal, improves the general health, and stops every disagreeable symptom. S. S. S. reaches down to the very bottom and leaves no trace of the disease in the system. Book on Catarrh and any medical advice free to all who write.

PLAN LARGE AMOUNT PAVING NEXT YEAR

STREETS ARE IN CONDITION TO HAVE WORK DONE

COUNCIL TO DECIDE SOON

Matter Will be Brought Up at the Next Meeting and Some Decision Reached

The city is making plans for a considerable amount of paving to be done next year. This year sewer was laid on a number of streets with the idea in mind of paving them next year. This is done because where granite dressing is laid it is impracticable to tear up the street for sewers as it spoils the street to a great extent.

From the present outlook it is probable that the following will be recommended by the board of public works for pavement:

Vine street from West avenue to Seventeenth street (sure.)

Cameron avenue to West avenue (sure.)

Sixth street from Vine street to La Crosse with brick.

Mormon Coulee road from Eighth to West avenue with brick.

Besides these there will undoubtedly be other streets recommended by the committee for pavement. There will also be some paving done on the north side, just where it is not known at present. It is certain that it will be on streets where there is a sewer because the city seldom does paving on streets on which a sewer has not already been laid. In cases where granite paving is done it is necessary that the sewer be laid at least a year before the macadam is laid on account of the street settling. It is not so urgent as cases of brick paving becuse there is a concrete foundation to support the brick and it is not liable to settle.

When Vine street is paved to its full length it will make one of the finest streets in the city and a great deal of travel will be made upon it. The normal school will be a big item of interest and the street will undoubtedly make a beautiful pleasure drive.

The streets to be paved will probably be definitely decided upon at the next meeting of the council.

FLOODS WASH OUT GATUN DAM WORK

PANAMA, Nov. 24.—The Journal publishes a sensational story to the effect that, owing to recent rains, the Gatun dam, which was built 40 feet above the sea level, was destroyed last night, a portion 65 feet wide, 50 feet deep, and 40 feet high sinking into the earth until the top of the dam was level with the surrounding surface.

Acording to the account the acident is close to the spot where, it is said, recent borings showed there was lack of proper natural foundation.

Trouble at the South Toe

The trouble was at what is known as the south toe of the Gatlun dam. CSome time ago rumor had it that an underground lake had been found there at a depth of 216 feet.

"Life is full of ups and downs," quoted the wise guy. "Yes, most of us have to keep down expenses to keep up appearances," replied the simple mug.

If the average man took more pain with his eating he wouldn't have so many afterward.

Nohting is so universally imitated as success.

FALLEN CONGRESSIONAL IDOLS

Ex-Congressman James T. McCleary at Left and Congressman W. P. Hepburn at Right

The congressional elections Nov. 3 upset many "conservative" idols. The story has been told before. The extent of the downfall can scarcely be realized without a repetition of the suggestion that the sixty-first congress will miss among others the Hon. Peter Hepburn of Clarinda, Ia, Congressman Hepburn has been in congress almost since the republican party was founded. He has been in the front rank of republican politics for half a century. Back in 1860 he was representing Iowa in national conventions. He broke into congress in its forty-seventh session, 30 years ago. He served continuously for six years. Then he skipped three sessions, returning to the fifty-third congress and serving in the fifty-fourth, fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth and sixtieth houses. In congress he has been a perpetual leader and it was the general impression that Hepburn was a congressional fixture. For several sessions he has been the chairman of the all-important committee on interstate and foreign commerce. With all of the rate bill legislation pending this has been one of the most important committees in action.

But Hepburn has been beaten. The returns say it was by a meager 100 votes. One hundred votes, however, are enough and the Eighth Iowa district will be represented by a democrat.

Another leader to go down in the melee is James T. McCleary of Minnesota. McCleary served in congress many years. When the democratic Mr. Hammond—friend of Governor Johnson—beat him. McCleary was taken care of in the postoffice department at Washington, being made second assictant postmaster general. He resigned this position in order to return to Minnesota and take up the fight against Hammond, who was out for re-election. But Hammond has again taken his scalp.

A Clean Man

Outside cleanliness is less than half the battle. A man may scrub himself a dozen times a day, and still be unclean. Good health means cleanliness not only outside, but inside. It means a clean stomach, clean bowels, clean blood, a clean liver, and new, clean, healthy tissues. The man who is clean in this way will look it and act it. He will work with energy and think clean, clear, healthy thoughts.

He will never be troubled with liver, lung, stomach or blood disorders. Dyspepsia and indigestion originate in unclean stomachs. Blood diseases are found where there is unclean blood. Consumption and bronchitis mean unclean lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

prevents these diseases. It makes a man's insides clean and healthy. It cleans the digestive organs, makes pure, clean blood, and clean, healthy flesh.

It restores tone to the nervous system, and cures nervous exhaustion and prostration. It contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs.

Constipation is the most unclean uncleanliness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it. They never gripe. Easy to take as candy.

ness said he could speak only for himself, but admitted he was a stock and bondholder and director of a number of roads.

"Do you own stock in the Wisconsin Central?" was asked.

"I don't own stock but may own some bonds," he replied.

He said he owned a few Pennsylvania bonds.

To the question, "Could you name the railroads in which you are interested?" he answered, "I am quite certain I could, but I presume those gentlemen from the stock exchange back there (pointing to the back of the court room) would think me foolish if I did so. I have no personal objection to naming them, but should prefer not to publicly announce my investments unless ordered to do so, in which case I should."

Names His Holdings.

Kellogg pressed the point and Rockefeller said, "I have investments of stock in the Delaware and Lackawanna, New York Central, Pennsylvania, Western Maryland, Missouri Pacific, Texas Pacific, Erie, first preferred, Colorado & Southern, and a railroad in Mexico, the name of which I can't recall off hand."

In reply to the question, "Is it true that you are a heavy owner of stocks and bonds in leading railroads of the country" he answered, "Yes, I should say so. I have acquired a bonded indebtedness in a number of railroads in conjunction with other operators who were in the habit of borrowing money on good security and I am interested in stocks of railroads to a lesser extent. These stocks and bonds of the railroad companies were purchased purely for the purpose of investment and represent personal choice." Rockefeller added.

Raises a Laugh

He declared, in response to a question, that other men were more heavily interested in railroads than he. When asked to name them, he said he couldn't. "There must be a great many," he said, "there have been a number of good propositions in stocks and bonds that I have not been privileged to invest in."

Kellogg joined in the laugh which followed.

Forgets Again

Before taking up the railroad phase Kellogg asked if Standard kept secret its control over the refineries in New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio. Rockefeller said that such a case was unlikely. His memory was untrustworthy when asked about Standard Oil's relation with the General Industrial and Syndicate company, and the London Trading and Investment company, both of London, which Kellogg said appeared to be interested in the oil business in America. After the railroad questions, hearing adjourned until afternoon. Kellogg intimated that he might desire to ask a few more questions.

Credit for Eczema Cure Belongs to Him

Whether or not Dr. J. E. Currier is entitled to all the credit for discovering that the drug citrox is practically a specific for all forms of skin diseases, it is certain that he was first to publish his discovery in the medical journal. Other doctors may, as they claim, have used citrox in treating eczema, tetter, salt rheum, etc., but if they did not publish their results and Dr. Currier did, they cannot complain if he is given the credit after having thrown his discovery open to the world. At the request of a correspondent we again publish the original directions for using this well-known drug in the treatment of skin diseases:

"Dissolve a teaspoonful pure powdered citrox in two tablespoons hot water and bathe the diseased skin twice a day 20 minutes at a time, in this warm lotion. It must be made up fresh and used warm each time. Be careful to get the pure drug put up in sealed packages by the chemical works." This new use for an old drug has made a radical advance in the treatment of skin diseases, as it stops the itching at once and dries up the eruption in a short time.

LONG FIGHT ENDS IN TRIUMPH SOUGHT

aged statesman's successor, the reactionary leaders, headed by Publisher "Lafe" Young, agred to submit quietly to the election of Cummins. They could not stand this strain upon their forbearance, however, and shortly thereafter the pledge was broken, and Major Lacey came out as the standpat candidate. It was agreed that, in order not to injure the republican chances in the state, there should be no indulgence in personalities in the senatorial campaign, and although the danger line was reached on one or two occasions, the elimination of abuse was quite complete. Cummins defeated Lacey easily, and his nomination in that primary was ratified by the legislature today. There is great rejoicing in the Cummins camp, and some sour feeling in reactionary quarters.

One of "Insurgents"

The election of Cummins means the coming into the senate of a strong recruit for the "insurgents" who, lead by La Follette, have been making war on the old leaders and the established order of things. The coterie will also be strengthened by the election of Crawford of North Dakota and Bristow of Kansas, while the opposition will be weakened by the loss of Aldrich, who has announced his decision to retire, and of other standpat senators.

ANDREWS WANTS TO GO HOME, B'GOSH!

RURAL SWAIN FINDS LIFE TOO EXCITING IN CHICAGO

THINKS ROBBERS CHASE HIM

One Day's Experience in City Makes Youth Pine for Pawlet, Vt., and His Sweetheart

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—When Frederick Andrews gets back to his old home at Pawlet, Vt., he says he will never again stray away from the fireside of Bardett Loomis, a farmer in the Danby district.

Andrews arrived in Chicago yesterday morning, and before he had been in the city ten hours he had enough excitement to last him all his life. He engaged a room at 412 Dearborn street, the door of which had a frosted panel. Looking up from a letter he was writing he saw the shadow of two men in the glass panel, and he says they were making motions at the occupant of the room.

Suspecting the pair at his door were intent on robbing him, he picked up a suitcase, his only baggage, and tossed it into the alley through a rear window. He then followed the suit case by leaping to the ground.

As he fled through the alley to Polk street he was seen by some men who thought he was a thief. They started after him, and Andrews, thinking his pursuers were the ones from the rooming house, began to shout lustily for the police.

Brings Revolver into Play

He had a revolver of ancient pattern which he dug up one day while plowing, and the weapon was brought into play. It looked like a sawed off shot gun to those in pursuit of the bucolic Vermonter, and as he took a stand against the "robbers" he cried out:

"Stand back there, gol darn ye, or I'll kill every mother's son of ye, I'm Fred Andrews from Pawlet, Vt., nine miles by stage coach from Granville, the county seat, and I can lay anybody of my size on his back. Now, don't get me riled."

Sergt. John Duffy of the Harrison street station was in the vicinity and he went to the Vermont man's assistance.

Andrews was afraid to go back to the room from which he had fled, leaving an umbrella behind him. The umbrella was returned to him by the sergeant, and he remained over night at the police station.

Writing to Sweetheart.

"I was writing to my sweetheart, Miss Rose Duclaw, a school teacher at Brandon, when I saw those fellows at my door," said the youth. "I had read a whole lot about Chicago robbers in the paper back home and I came to the conclusion that those fellows were going to do me up.

"Quicker'n a cat could jump I put the half written letter in my pocket, then hauled my trusty old revolver out of the suit case. Good thing I had it with me, or I mightn't be here now to tell the story.

"I lifted up the window and threw the suit case out, and in my hurry I forgot all about the umbrella and my collar and necktie. It was a pretty good leap to the ground, but I'm used to jumping out of fruit trees and hay mows, so I didn't mind it.

Wishes He Was Back Home.

"I want to go back home," Andrews continued. "I've seen enough of Chicago. Burdett Loomis, the man I worked for, gave me $18 a month and food. I had the use of his best horse and buggy whenever I wanted to take my girl out riding, and I was a chump to leave there. Allan Mason, who keeps the Franklin house, and has met a whole lot of traveling people, told me I was foolish to go away."

Andrews is 21 years old.

GIRLS HANDLED "QUEER?"

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Three young women, believed to be accomplices of a band of expert counterfeiters, which has flooded the west with $100,000 in spurious $5 bills, were subjected to sweatbox questioning by Capt. Thomas I. Porter, head of the Chicago branch of the United States secret service bureau. Meanwhile his assistant had gone to Joliet to bring two more suspects in the case to Chicago.

It is believed that at least a dozen persons are members of the band. The total amount of spurious bills circulated in Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and other towns may be a quarter of a million dollars.

Too Much For Him.

"Hello, Green. How are you getting on?"

"Rotten. I got the first one in eleven, the second in twelve and the third one in eleven, and then I went all to pieces."—Browning's Magazine.

THE COST OF LIVING "IN STYLE"

Countess Julia W. L. Seckenborf at Left, Miss Helen Gould at Right, Mrs. Franklin MacVeagh Below.

The recent court discussions in the alimony case of Mrs. Howard Gould, in which she claims that $70,000 per year is entirely inadequate to support one even modestly in her social circle, has brought out the question of domestic finance in a striking manner. Mrs. Howard Gould's sister-in-law, Miss Helen Gould, is known to spend comparatively little on her personal pleasures, entertainment and dress, still she moves in the elite social set of New York city. Possibly $15,000 a year would cover Miss Gould's expenditures on herself, while her sister-inlaw thinks $70,000 too small. Miss Helen Guld, however, in her philanthrophy undoubtedly spends much more than the $70,000, so it is again not a matter of expenditure, but of the way the money is spent.

Mrs. MacVeagh, one of Chicago's social leaders and a lady noted for her elaborate entertainments, considers $30,000 entirely adequate for her personal wants. She frankly admits, however, that this does not take into consideration expensive automobiles and not over one elaborate, large social function during the year.

We see men and women of wealth yearly spending thousands of dollars to gratify their personal desires, where the person in humbler circumstances may move in a social set not as extravagant, but just as appealing, on a few hundred dollars. To this class the expenditure of $100,000 per year seems amazing, and yet many a matron has been known to do this. For example, the Countess Julia Seckenborf considers $1,000,000 a year a minimum, but the countess could ill afford this expenditure, for now she is practically penniless. Her career is very interesting and shows the only too frequent example of sudden wealth and just as sudden spending of the the sum.

Some years ago Miss Julia Davidson, the present countess, entered the employ of Mrs. John Q. Donor as maid. The Donors had a daughter named Elsie and Miss Davidson cared for the child. Several years ago Mrs. Donor died and Mr. Donor married Miss Davidson. Immediately the house became the center of social life among the wealthy people of the district. Servants seemed everywhere and the new Mrs. Donnor began to enjoy life to the utmost. After Mr. Donor's death, about five years ago, she came into possession of his great fortune and married Count Seckenborf. In her endeavor to climb to the top of social life at the capitol she has spent during the last five years over $4,000,000.

Charles M. Schwab recently cut his household expenses $30,000 a year and still lives in magnificent style.

The amount necessary to satisfy the wants of a person seems entirely to depend upon the taste and available cash, but while the courts are fighting out the question as to whether $70,000 a year is sufficient alimony to support Mrs. Howard Gould, many a person heaves a sigh of relief that he has 1-140 part of this great amount or whatever part he may have, and is happy.

MRS. TAFT TO REVISE THE WHITE HOUSE

Mrs. William H. Taft and Her Home After March 4 Next, Which She is Already Planning to Change Materially.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 17.—Mrs. Taft has been ambitious to be in the White house for many years and at last her dreams have come true. She is already planning changes which will make it more to her liking and one of the most striking will be in the red room. If she has her way, she will turn this into a place where all of President Taft's gifts can be displayed.

Probably no chief executive ever came to the White house so laden with gifts from distinguished public men and women. He has some of the most magnificent and most ancient teakwood furniture in existence, some the gift of the sultan of Sulu and some from the dowager empress of China, and the big men in various tribes of the Filipino archipelago.

The bedroom set which was presented to Mrs. Taft by the Manila council is regal. The bed is about once again the size of the ordinary bed. It has a canopy lined with brocaded rose satin and accompanying the bed was a lace spread which is almost fabulous in value. The article of furniture being too huge for the ordinary home has been in a state of honorable captivity in the target of the Charles P. Taft residence in Cincinnati, but will be installed in the White house in time for the Taft occupation after March 4. There is a dresser which accompanies this bed and a great table where the orientals displayed their toilet articles. The ornaments are all silver and crystal bottles and jewel boxes for ointment. Mrs. Taft has a teakwood cabinet, which has been familiar to the Washington public, in her small drawing room and where she kept some of the more valuable presents of silver and bronze given by the empress of Japan. A larger cabinet was placed in the dining room and this, too, is filled with gifts from the great. An exquisite carved ivory crucifix is one of the gifts from the late pontiff, Leo XIII. A mosiac casket is another, and there are some small mosaic pieces given by the lesser officials of the vatican. Mrs. Taft has a fine illuminated portfolio presented by the papal secretary of state, Rampalla, with whom Judge Taft conducted his successful negotiations about the Philippine church property. These cabinets could find easy quarters in the bed room of the White house. It is the only one of the state which has no particularly valuable or historic furnishings. The present equipment was selected when the White house was renovated and is only rattan and willow with tapestry covers.

Foreign Markets

New York Stocks.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24—After a little wavering following the gains made in the opening, the application of Southern Pacific to the list of new stocks caused hurried buying of Union Pacific. This stock advanced 2⅜ points while Southern Pacific went to 118. St. Paul gained 2 points and strength was extended to other railroad issues and a number of industrials. At the end of the first hour the market was strong with buying coming from many sources. Amalgamated rose over one point. Government bonds unchanged, others strong.

WANT STORES SHUT ON THANKSGIVING

To the Employes and Business Men of La Crosse:

According to an established custom the president of the United States and the governor of our state have issued their annual call for the observance of Thanksgiving day on Thursday, November 26th, 1908. In compliance with their requests the doors of our churches in La Crosse will be open for all who wish to enter into them for this purpose. I would therefore appeal to you as patriotic citizens and as God-fearing men, to close the doors of your business establishments for the whole day on November 26th, so as to give all your employes an opportunity to attend the Thanksgiving services in their respective churches. It does not suffice, for this purpose, to close your establishment at noon, thus giving the employes only a half holiday, as most of the Thanksgiving services are held in the morning.

Sincerely yours, JOHN J. CLEMENS.

GREAT MASON DIES.

FREEPORT, Ill., Nov. 24.—Loyal M. Munn died last night, aged 79. He was past high priest of the Illinois grand chapter of royal Arch Masons, past grand master of Knights Templar, and for many years secretary of the grand lodge of Illinois.

The angels never have time to talk to the man who leaves his work to finish for them.

In these modern times, a charge of heresy is regarded about as seriously as a charge of witchcraft.

MINNESOTA JUDGE DIES SUDDENLY

CROOKSTON, Minn., Nov. 24.—Universal sorrow has been caused by the sudden death of Judge Ole E. Hagen at Bethesda hospital, this city. He had been brought to the hospital Wednesday from his home near Badger, Rosseau county. While his condition was serious, he was not deemed critical, and the change for the worse came so suddenly that two of his sons, Midshipman O. O. Hagen, at Annapolis, and Chris O. Hagen, head of one of the bureaus in the educational department at Manila, were unable to be at his bedside when the end came.

ITALIAN RECEIVES BLACKHAND NOTE

DULUTH, Minn., Nov. 24.—The first crime by the Black Hand bandits was committed here when Dominic Benda, a well to do Italian merchant, received a letter signed by the society demanding $500, in default of which the outlaws threatened to kidnap his little son.

Benda asked the aid of the police. A trap was set, the money being placed at the designated spot last night, police watching from a nearby house.

The outlaws evidently became alarmed as they did not appear. Three men are suspected.

BURGLARIZE STORE

BRAINERD, Minn., Nov. 24.—The store of the O'Brien Mercantile company was burglarized. Burglars are supposed to have hidden in the store during the evening and been locked in. They opened the safe and scattered the papers around the office. No money had been left in the safe.

DROWNS HIMSELF IN SIOUX RIVER

EDWARD CONNELLY COMMITS SUICIDE THERE

LEAVES A PATHETIC NOTE

Ruined by Drink Prefers Suicide to Avoid a Drunkard's Grave

WATERTOWN, S. D., Nov. 24.—"This is the end. My life is forlorn—no use to myself or any one else now. It is a hard thing to do. I see the way I am in and I am down and out. Can't keep away from it.

"Ed Connely, Fountain, Minn.
"November 11, 1908."

Scribbled on the fly leaf of his note book and rendered almost illegible by the water the last message of Ed Connelly, who was found in the Sioux river late Friday afternoon, tells a pitiful story of a soul hurled into eternity by drink. The finding of the note left no doubt as to the cause of death, it being a clear case of suicide. The note was dated Nov. 11, while the body was not discovered till Nov. 20, so the body was evidently in the river ten days.

The eleventh of November was the coldest day of the month in Watertown, and the river was covered with a sheet of ice over an inch thick. It is the theory of the police that the unfortunate man jumped from the Chicago and Northwestern railway bridge, easily breaking through the thin ice and coming up down stream under the ice where he was held till the warm weather of last week released him.

The body was not bloated, as the water was ice cold. The man had on heavy clothing, overcoat and gloves, showing it to have been a cold night when he took the fatal plunge.

The police have notified the parents of the young man who reside at Fountain, Minn., and it is likely that they will send for their son's body. The man had a losing fight against his appetite for strong drink and seeming to realize the situation preferred a suicide's to a drunkard's grave.

HEXAMETHYLENETETRAMINE

The above is the name of a German chemical, which is one of the many valuable ingredients of Foley's Kidney Remedy. Hexamethylenetetramine is recognized by medical text books and authorities as a uric acid solvent and antiseptic for the urine. Take Foley's Kidney Remedy as soon as you notice any irregularities, and avoid a serious malady. O. T. Erhart.

NORTHWEST IN BRIEF

MARSHALLTOWN, Ia. — Lizzie Rawwinkle, a beautiful young woman, 21 years old, who has been stopping at the rooming house of Mrs. Albert Edwards for a short time, was arrested in Mason City by Sheriff C. S. Huston on a charge of grand larceny. It is alleged the girl stole dresses and articles of clothing worth $67 from Mrs. Edwards' daughter.

MUSCATINE, Ia.—In resolutions drawn at the conclusion of the school of instruction here of the Fifty-fourth regiment of Iowa national guard, it was advocated that two brigades be formed in Iowa, and the candidacy of Col. F. W. Bishop for brigadier general was favored. It was also advocated that Gov.-elect B. F. Carroll retain Adjt. Gen. Thrift.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D.—Arrangements are being perfected for a tri-state meeting in Sioux Falls of Odd Fellows of this part of the Northwest. The meeting will be held on Dec. 8 and will be attended by representatives of the Odd Fellows lodges of South Dakota, northwestern Iowa and southwestern Minnesota.

LAKE PRESTON, S. D.—A fine new Lutheran church building was dedicated here Sunday. Several hundred persons attended. Miss Christine Ostroot of Canton presided at the handsome pipe organ with which the new church has been provided. The new church edifice is said to be one of the finest in Kingsbury county.

CHANCELLOR, S. D.—Rev. Carl Swyter, for some time pastor of the German Baptist church here, has tendered his resignation, to take effect soon after Jan. 1. He has accepted the pastorate of the Second Baptist church at George, Ia.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D.—The local W. C. T. U. having recently conducted a crusade which resulted in the removal of slot machines from all business houses, now has taken up the matter of having enforced the state statute prohibiting the sale of cigarettes and tobacco to minors.

HATTON, N. D.—As the result of rupturing a blood vessel L. L. Huret was stricken with paralysis, one side of his body and his tongue being affected. He will recover.

YANKTON, S. D.—A stock company is being organized here with $25,000 capital to publish a new German paper to be called the Neue Freie Presse. A number of well-to-do Yankton Germans are back of the movement. It is proposed to issue the initial number about Jan. 1. F. W. Sallett, who purchased the old Freie Presse, will move to Aberdeen. The new paper will be republican in politics.

DOPE FIEND LIVES ON CITY GARBAGE

DAUGHTER OF WEALTHY PEOPLE SHE IS DRUG FIEND

HUSBAND IS A PHYSICIAN

While Her Parents Live in Luxury She Lives on Contents of Garbage Cans—Is Penniless

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 24. — Wrecked by "dope," May Snyder, daughter of a wealthy Milwaukee family, testified in the Minneapolis police court that she had recently been eating from garbage cans to keep from starving. She has been living in a cheap lodging house on Washington avenue south with her husband, who, she testified, is Dr. C. Lewis Snyder, a graduate of the Physician's and Surgeons' college of Chicago.

Patrolman Willar found Mrs. Snyder on the street at 2 a. m. clad only in her underwear and a long black cloak. On the stand she stated that she was on her way to a drug store to purchase some "dope."

According to the woman's testimony her parents are wealthy and her two young children now are in their care.

THANKSGIVING MUSIC

Is Thanksgiving complete without music of some kind in the home?

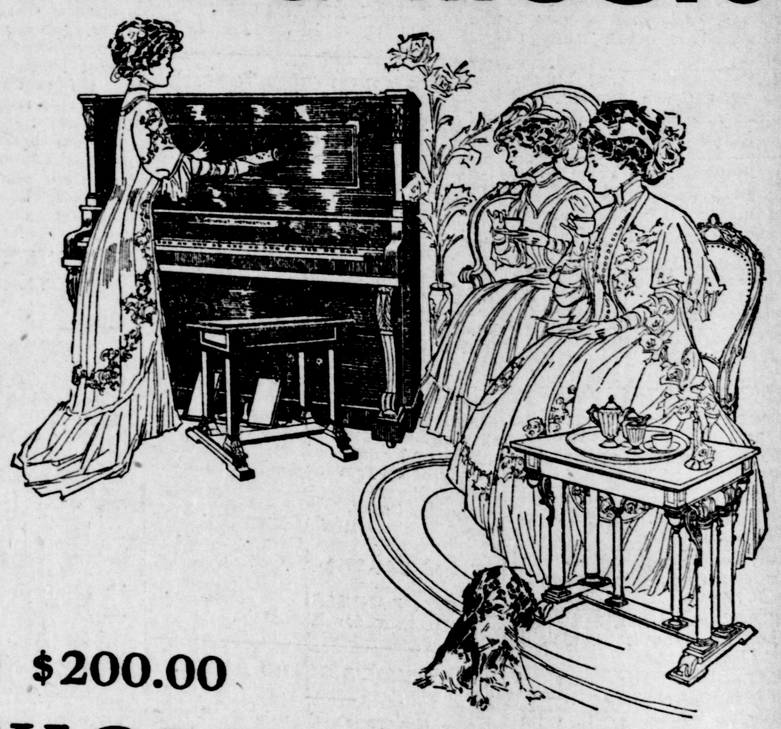

There never was a time when we were better prepared to serve you in a musical way.

Everybody likes music of some kind. But most people frankly admit that music is a subject on which they are poorly informed. Yet it is one of the greatest of the arts and one which has endless power to give pleasure and recreation.

The Pianola Piano has made music-ignorance inexcusable and its sale extends to every quarter of the civilized world. The Pianola Piano costs from $550 to $1,050, and it may be purchased on moderate monthly payments.

If it's a PIANO you want, we have the largest and finest line of strictly dependable we have ever shown. And that means the largest ever shown in La Crosse.

If you're not in the market for a Piano, perhaps an Edison or a Victor Talking Machine would please the family. In this line, as in every other, we strive to carry the most complete assortment shown by anybody. You'll find every record in the catalogue on our shelves, together with a full line of Phonographs ranging in price
